Final Four Game Records

Statistics for the Division I Men's Basketball tournament have been collected since 1939, the first year of the tournament. Individual rebounds were added in 1951, although team rebounds were not added until 1955. Assists were added in 1984. Blocked shots and steals were added in 1986. Scoring, rebounding, assists, blocked shots and steals are ranked on total number and per-game average; shooting, on percentage. In statistical rankings, the rounding of percentages and/or averages may indicate ties where none exist. In these cases, the numerical order of the rankings is accurate. In 1973, freshmen became eligible to compete on the varsity level.

A national championship game is indicated by (CH), a national semifinal game by (NSF), a national third-place game by (N3d) and record later vacated by (*).

Tournament fact

The first reference to "Final Four" in an NCAA publication was in the 1975 Official Collegiate Basketball Guide. On page 5 in the National Preview-Review section written by Ed Chay of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Chay writes "Outspoken Al McGuire of Marquette, whose team was one of the final four in Greensboro, was among several coaches who said it was good for college basketball that UCLA was finally beaten."

The first time Final Four was capitalized was in the 1978 basketball guide.

Stanford Sports Information

Howie Dallmar scored a game-high 15 points in the 1945 final to earn the tournament's most-outstanding-player award and help Stanford top Dartmouth for the NCAA title.

Tournament trivia

Question...

In 2003, Syracuse's Carmelo Anthony became the third freshman to earn the NCAA tournament most outstanding player award. Who were the other two?

Answer...

Arnie Ferrin of Utah in 1944 and Pervis Ellison of Louisville in 1986

The 1997 tournament most outstanding player was Miles Simon, who made all four pressure free throws he took in the final minute of overtime to help Arizona to an 84-79 win over Kentucky and give Arizona its first NCAA basketball title.

Tournament Moments...

March 29, 1982, championship game in the Louisiana Superdome in New Orleans – The picture says it all as North Carolina freshman Michael Jordan hit a 16-foot jumper for what turned out to be the last score of the game. Moments later, Georgetown's Fred Brown mistook Carolina's James Worthy as his teammate, Sleepy Floyd, and passed the ball to Worthy. The Tar Heels ran out the clock to take a 63-62 victory and give coach Dean Smith his first NCAA championship.

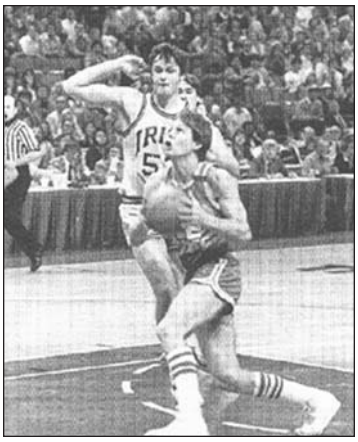
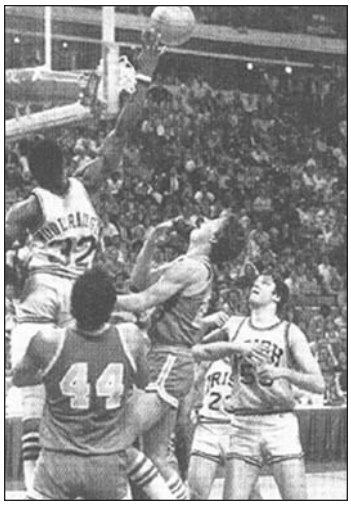
Tournament Moments...





March 19, 1981, East regional semifinal game in the Omni in Atlanta – With Brigham Young down by a point to Notre Dame and eight seconds left, the Cougars' Danny Ainge dribbled the length of the court and laid the ball over the outstretched fingertips of Irish center Orlando Woolridge. Time expired before stunned Notre Dame could inbound the ball. Brigham Young advanced to the regional final with a 51-50 victory.

Although the prediction from the University of Pennsylvania mascot didn't come true as Magic Johnson and Michigan State easily defeated Penn, 101-67, in the 1979 national semifinal game, the Quakers make a point as the only No. 9 seed ever to reach the Final Four.

Tournament trivia

Question...

Heading into the 2005 season, how many schools from the state of Missouri have advanced to the Final Four?

Answer...

None so far

File Photo

Oklahoma State won back-to-back NCAA titles in 1945 and 1946 thanks in large part to center Bob Kurland, who led the tournament in scoring both those years.

Individual Scoring Leaders

Note: On all percentages of the year-by-year leaders, a player must have played in at least 50 percent of the maximum tournament games. Thus, there is a two-game minimum from 1939-52 and a three-game minimum from 1953 to present.

Tournament fact

In 2004, Connecticut became the only school to win the men's and women's basketball championships in the same year.

Connecticut and Duke are the only two schools to have its men's and women's basketball teams both ranked No. 1 in the nation by the Associated Press at the same time. Connecticut has done it five times: three in November and December of 2003, and February 13, 1995 and November 30, 1998. Duke did it the week of January 7, 2003.

Basketball fact

The three-point field goal was "officially" introduced in college basketball during the 1986-87 season, having been previously used on an experimental basis. But when was it first used as an experiment in a college game? Most people would say the few years before the 1986-87 season because several conferences experimented with the rule during that time. But the first college game in which the three-point goal was used was in 1945.

On February 7, 1945, Columbia defeated Fordham, 73-58, in a game that featured several rule revisions designed to eliminate the zone defense and reduce the effectiveness of a tall center. The innovations were suggested by Columbia graduate Julian Rice and Oregon coach Howard Hobson, who led the Ducks to the first NCAA championship in 1939. One change was to widen the foul lane from 6 to 12 feet. The other revision was to award three points for goals scored from beyond an arc 21 feet away from the basket. Also, a fouled player had the option of shooting a free throw for one point from the regular 15-foot distance or shooting for two points from the 21-foot line. During the game, the two teams combined for 20 "long goals" and eight "long fouls," and at halftime, the crowd voted its approval of the rule changes. Eleven years later, the wider lane was adopted as rule, but it took 41 years for the three-point field goal to be implemented.

Current Big East schools have made 230 NCAA tournament appearances, the most of any conference. In 1985, three of the Final Four teams were from the Big East including the two teams in the championship game. In that game, Ed Pinckney (54) of Villanova tried to get around the defense of Georgetown's Patrick Ewing.

The Atlantic Coast Conference has 298 NCAA tournament victories, the most of any conference. In the 1982 national semifinals, Michael Jordan (23) of North Carolina from the ACC watched as teammate James Worthy got sandwiched under the basket by Houston's Hakeem Olajuwon and Larry Micheaux (41). UNC went on to win the title.

Tournament History

1939 The first National Collegiate men's basketball tournament was held. For the first 12 years, district playoffs often were held with the winner entering an eight-team field for the championship. The district games were not considered a part of the tournament. The winners of the East and West regionals were the only two teams to advance to the final site.

1940 The National Association of Basketball Coaches held its annual convention at the site of the national finals for the first time. It has been held in conjunction with the tournament ever since.

1946 The championship game was televised locally for the first time in New York City by WCBS-TV as Oklahoma State defeated North Carolina, 43-40. The initial viewing audience was estimated to be 500,000.

This was the first time four teams advanced to the final site. With only East and West regionals, the two regional champions played for the national title while the regional runners-up played for third place.

1950 CCNY became the only team that has ever won both national postseason tournaments: the NCAA tournament and the National Invitational Tournament (NIT).

1951 The field was expanded to 16 teams, with 10 conference champions qualifying automatically for the first time. Those 10 conferences were: Big Seven (Big Eight), Big Ten, Border, Eastern (Ivy), Missouri Valley, Mountain States (also known as Skyline), Pacific Coast (Pacific-10), Southeastern, Southern and Southwest.

1952 Tournament games were televised regionally for the first time.

The number of regional sites changed from two to four, with the four winners advancing to the finals.

1953 The bracket expanded from 16 teams to 22 and fluctuated between 22 and 25 teams until 1974.

Teams are limited to one national postseason tournament. No longer can teams play in both the NCAA tournament and the National Invitational Tournament (NIT).

1954 The Tuesday-Wednesday format for semifinals and the final game was changed to Friday-Saturday.

The championship game was televised nationally for the first time as La Salle defeated Bradley, 94-76, in Kansas City, Missouri.

1957 The largest media group to date assembled for the championship game in Kansas City, Missouri. Coverage included an 11-station television network, 64 newspaper writers and live radio broadcasts on 73 stations in 11 states.

1963 A contract to run through 1968 was worked out with Sports Network for the championship game to be televised nationally. Television rights totaled $140,000.

For the first time, sites for the tournament competition were selected two years in advance.

1966 Net income for the entire tournament exceeded $500,000 for the first time.

A television-blackout provision requiring a 48-hour advance sellout was adopted.

1969 The Friday-Saturday format for semifinals and the final game changed to Thursday-Saturday.

NBC was selected to televise the championship at television rights totaling $547,500, exceeding $500,000 for the first time. The tournament's net income of $1,032,915 was the first time above the million-dollar mark.

1971 NBC recorded the largest audience ever for a basketball network telecast during the semifinals as 9,320,000 homes saw the game.

1973 The Thursday-Saturday format for semifinals and the championship game changed to Saturday-Monday.

Television rights totaled $1,165,755, exceeding $1 million for the first time. NBC reported that the championship game was the highest-rated basketball telecast of all time. The contest received a rating of 20.5 and was seen by 13,580,000 television households reaching a total audience of 39 million persons. Also for the first time, the championship game was televised in prime time.

TVS, with the approval of NBC, agreed to televise those games not carried by NBC for a two-year period at the rights fee of $65,000 per year.

First-round byes were determined on the basis of an evaluation of the conference's won-lost record over the past 10 years in National Collegiate Championship play.

The first public draw to fill oversubscribed orders for Final Four game tickets was administered by the committee for the 1974 championship.

1974 The bracket rotation was changed for the first time, eliminating East versus West bracketing in effect since 1939. East played West and Mideast played Midwest in the national semifinals.

The Eastern College Athletic Conference was divided to receive multiple automatic-qualification berths in the tournament.

1975 A 32-team bracket was adopted and teams other than the conference champion could be chosen at large from the same conference for the first time.

Locker rooms opened to media representatives after a 10-minute cooling-off period.

1976 The rights for the NCAA Radio Network were awarded to Host Communications, Inc., of Lexington, Kentucky.

Regional third-place games were eliminated.

For the first time, two teams from the same conference (Big Ten) played in the national championship game, with Indiana defeating Michigan.

1977 NBC televised 23 hours and 18 minutes of tournament programming.

1978 A seeding process was used for the first time for individual teams. A maximum of four automatic-qualifying conference teams were seeded in each of the four regional brackets. These teams were seeded based on their respective conferences' won-lost percentages in tournament play during the past five years. At-large seeding in each region was based on current won-lost records, strength of schedule and eligibility status of student-athletes for postseason competition.

NBC televised the four regional championship games and a first-round doubleheader on Saturday and Sunday.

NCAA Productions began producing first-second-round and selected regional semifinal games and airing them in the regions of the participating teams.

Complimentary tickets for all NCAA championships were eliminated.

1979 The bracket was expanded to 40 teams and all teams were seeded for the first time.

NBC received a record one-game rating with a 24.1 in Michigan State's national championship victory over Indiana State. The 38 share and the 18 million homes viewing were both records at the time.

The Division I Men's Basketball Committee assigned three-man officiating crews for all tournament games.

The first public lottery for the drawing of Final Four game tickets was held.

1980 The bracket was expanded to 48 teams, which included 24 automatic qualifiers and 24 at-large teams. The top 16 seeds received byes to the second round.

The limit of two teams from the same conference being allowed in the tournament was lifted. This gave the committee maximum flexibility to balance the bracket as well as to select the best possible at-large entrants.

ESPN began telecasting nationally the games that were being produced by NCAA Productions. ESPN continued its coverage of early-round games through the 1990 tournament.

1981 Principles for the seeding and placement of teams to develop a balanced tournament bracket were implemented. They included establishing 12 levels that transcended each of the four regions; dividing each region into three sections with four levels each; limiting to one the number of conference teams that could be placed in each regional section; and placing teams in their geographical area or on their home court if doing so did not compromise the first three principles.

A computer ranking system, the Rating Percentage Index or RPI, was used as an aid in evaluating teams in the preparation for making at-large selections.

It became policy that "no more than 50 percent of the tournament berths shall be filled by automatic qualifiers."

Virginia defeated LSU in the last third-place game conducted at the Final Four site.

1982 CBS was awarded the television rights for 16 exposures to the championship for three years.

The selection show was shown on live national television for the first time.

North Carolina's national championship win against Georgetown received a 21.6 rating and was the 11th-ranked prime-time program for that week. CBS also achieved second-round record ratings with an 11.8 rating and 27 share Saturday, and an 11.3 rating and 28 share Sunday.

Host Communications, Inc., and the CBS Radio Network co-produced the NCAA Radio Network.

1983 An opening round was added that required the representatives of eight automatic-qualifying conferences to compete for four positions in the 52-team tournament bracket. This concept permitted the committee to retain a 48-team bracket evenly balanced with 24 automatic qualifiers and 24 at-large selections, yet award automatic qualification to each of the 28 conferences that received it the year before. The 16 top-seeded teams received byes to the second round.

The current format in which the tournament starts the third weekend in March, regional championships on the fourth Saturday and Sunday, and the national semifinals and final the following Saturday and Monday, was established.

North Carolina State's national championship victory over Houston attracted what then was a record 18.6 million homes to the CBS telecast. The game had a 22.3 rating (third best) and a 32 share. It was the fifth-ranked prime-time television program for that week.

A national semifinal record also was set in Houston's victory over Louisville. The game had a 17.8 rating and 35 share and was viewed by 14,800,000 homes on CBS.

The committee determined that a facility in which the final session is held must have a minimum of 17,000 seats.

1984 One additional opening-round game was established, requiring 10 automatic-qualifying conferences to compete for five positions in the 53-team bracket that included 24 automatic qualifiers and 24 at-large selections.

For the first time, awards were presented to all participating teams in the championship.

1985 The tournament bracket was expanded to include 64 teams, which eliminated all first-round byes.

The committee realigned each region and renamed the Mideast region the Southeast region. Specifically, the Southern and Mid-Eastern conferences were moved from the East to the Southeast region; the Big Ten, Mid-American and Southwestern conferences moved from the Southeast to the Midwest; the Metro and Trans America conferences were moved from the Midwest to the Southeast, and the Southland and Southwest conferences were moved from the Midwest to the West region.

The number of automatic qualifiers was capped at 30 for a five-year period (1986-90).

CBS had a record 19.8 million homes view Villanova's national championship victory over Georgetown. The game attracted a 23.3 rating (second best) and a 33 share, and was the second-rated prime-time program on television for that week.

The East regional championship game (Georgetown defeated Georgia Tech) set television records for that level of tournament competition with a 12.6 rating, a 32 share and 10.7 million homes tuned to CBS.

The NCAA Radio Network reached an all-time high radio audience for any sports event when the Villanova-Georgetown game attracted 21 million listeners.

CBS began a second three-year contract that included 19 exposures.

1986 CBS televised 40 hours, 51 minutes of tournament programming.

The NCAA Radio Network included a record 426 stations, including 92 of the top 100 markets.

It became policy that all regional competition be played at neutral sites. If an institution selected to host this level of competition is a participant in the tournament, it must play in another region.

Three separate three-man officiating crews were assigned to the two national semifinals and the championship final.

1987 The National Association of Basketball Coaches reaffirmed its endorsement of the policy that permits an institution to participate on its home court in the first and second rounds of competition.

Championship team members were awarded 10-karat gold rings, while the other three teams in the Final Four received silver rings.

All 64 teams selected for the championship were subject to drug testing for the first time.

1988 CBS began a third three-year contract. All regional semifinal games were televised in prime time.

Separate three-man officiating crews were assigned to all competition at regional and national championship sites.

1989 The NCAA Executive Committee expanded a moratorium enacted in 1984 limiting the bracket to 30 automatic-qualifying conference champions and 34 at-large teams through the 1998 championship.

NCAA Executive Regulation 1-6-(b)-1 was amended to strengthen criteria governing automatic qualification for conferences.

Bracket rotation was established, with East vs. West, Midwest vs. Southeast in 1989; Southeast vs. West, East vs. Midwest in 1990, and West vs. Midwest, Southeast vs. East in 1991.

Awards for the national runner-up were presented in the dressing room immediately after the championship game.

Host Communications, Inc., began a three-year contract for rights to the NCAA Radio Network and programs for all sites.

Neutral courts were used in all rounds of the championship for the first time.

After determining that three of the next four Final Four host facilities should have a minimum capacity of 30,000, the committee selected Charlotte, Seattle, The Meadowlands and Indianapolis to host in 1994, 1995, 1996 and 1997.

1990 General public was limited to purchasing two tickets to future Final Fours.

The basketball committee defined "home court" as an arena in which a team has played more than 50 percent of its home regular-season schedule, excluding conference tournament games.

The NCAA Executive Committee approved "play-in" concept to identify the 30 automatic-qualifying conferences in December 1989. The Rating Percentage Index (RPI) administered by the NCAA was computed for the nonconference schedules of all eligible conferences. Those with the lowest ranking competed for the available automatic-qualifying positions. The play-in was implemented in 1991 with 33 eligible conferences. Six conference representatives played for three automatic-qualifying berths in the 64-team bracket.

For the first time the RPI was updated daily during the selection meetings. Previously, the RPI was updated only once through the night before the meetings began and used throughout the selection process.

1991 CBS Sports began a seven-year contract for $1 billion, which included live coverage of all sessions of the championship.

The definition of "home court" was further defined to exclude from hosting arenas in which teams played more than three games of a regular-season schedule, excluding conference tournaments.

A play-in was conducted between the six lowest-rated conferences from the previous year's RPI since 33 conferences were eligible for automatic qualification. Game results were as follows: St. Francis (Pennsylvania) (Northeast Conference) defeated Fordham (Patriot League), 70-64; Louisiana-Monroe (Southland) defeated Florida A&M (Mid-Eastern), 87-63; and Coastal Carolina (Big South) defeated Jackson State (Southwestern), 86-75.

1992 Duke won its second consecutive national championship, the first team to successfully defend its title since UCLA in 1973.

1993 A minimum facility seating capacity of 12,000 for first and second rounds and regionals was established.

The basketball committee selected San Antonio; St. Petersburg, Florida; Indianapolis; Minneapolis; and Atlanta to host the Final Four in 1998 through 2002. All the facilities had capacities in excess of 30,000.

1994 For the first time, all 100 of the top 100 markets in the country received the radio play-by-play broadcast of the Final Four. This included a record 488 stations.

President Bill Clinton became the first sitting president to attend the tournament, when he was present at the Midwest regional championship game in Dallas and the national semifinals and final in Charlotte, North Carolina.

The use of combined shot clocks/game clocks was required at all sites.

The weighing of the three factors composing the Rating Percentage Index (RPI)—Division I winning percentage, opponents' winning percentage and opponents' opponent's winning percentage—was adjusted from 20-40-40 to 25-50-25. A second RPI, adjusted based upon a team's "good" wins, "bad" losses and nonconference scheduling, was provided.

1995 The existing CBS Sports contract was replaced with a new agreement for $1.725 billion extending through the 2002 championship.

1996 The NCAA created the first online computer page for the men's Final Four.

Pool reporters permitted under specified conditions to interview game officials after games.

Participating institutions' seating locations moved closer to mid-court and nearer to the playing floor.

1997 Bracketing policies were changed so that once the highest-seeded team from a conference is assigned to a region, only the eighth team selected from that conference may be placed in that region.

The NCAA's online computer page expanded to include preliminary rounds.

1998 Competition at all three sites within each region began being conducted on the same days of the week and tournament hosts' teams permitted to play on the days they are hosting.

The name of the Southeast Region was changed to the South Region.

The basketball committee continued selecting Final Four host facilities with a minimum seating capacity of 30,000 when it picked New Orleans, San Antonio, St. Louis, Indianapolis and Atlanta to host in 2003-2007.

1999 Bracketing policies were changed so that, once the highest-seeded team from a conference is assigned to a region, only the sixth team from that conference may be placed in that region.

The NCAA signed a new 11-year agreement with CBS Sports, commencing with the 2003 championship. The agreement, which was for a minimum of $6 billion, included rights to television (over-the-air, cable, satellite, digital and home video), marketing, game programs, radio, Internet, fan festivals and licensing (excluding concessionaire agreements).

In its continuing effort to combat the effects of gambling, the committee began conducting background checks on game officials. The NCAA checked 50 officials randomly selected from among the 96 who worked the previous year's tournament.

2001 Inasmuch as 31 conferences were eligible for automatic qualification, the committee agreed to conduct an opening-round game the Tuesday before the first/second rounds, pitting teams seeded Nos. 64 and 65.

2002 Championship-, first- and second-round sites will no longer be assigned to specific regions. Rather, the committee will have flexibility to assign four-team pods to sites near the teams' natural geographic areas, if possible.

During the selection meeting, for the first time, each committee member had the use of an individual computer for researching and evaluating teams.

2003 Westwood One assumed administration of the tournament's radio rights.

The committee set the minimum Final Four seating capacity at 40,000.

2004 Rather than using the traditional annual rotation of Final Four semifinals pairings (i.e., West vs. East, South vs. Midwest) the committee assigned the pairings during selection weekend. The top No. 1 seed's region was assigned to meet the fourth No. 1 seed's region and the second No. 1 seed's region met the third No. 1 seed's region.

Directional regional site designations (i.e., East, South, Midwest, West) were dropped. Instead, regional sites were known by the city in which the games were played (i.e., Atlanta regional).

Ed Jucker coached Cincinnati into the NCAA tournament only three times, but he made them count. The Bearcats won the titles in 1961 and 1962, and lost in overtime in the 1963 championship game.

%National 3d-place games did not start until 1946 and ended with 1981; in other years, two teams tied for third and both listed this column. RR Regional runner-up, or one victory from Final Four, thus in the top eight.

 # NOTES ON TEAMS AND COACHES:

MICHIGAN: Steve Fisher coached Michigan in the 1989 tournament; Bill Freider was the coach during the regular season.

MISSOURI: Rich Daly coached Missouri in the 1989 tournament due to Norm Stewart's illness; Missouri credits the entire 1989 season to Stewart.

Tournament Moments...

March 28, 1992, East regional final at the Spectrum in Philadelphia – With Duke down a point in overtime, the Blue Devils' Grant Hill inbounded from under Kentucky's basket with 2.1 seconds left to Christian Laettner, who stood at the top of the key just inside the three-point line. With his back to the basket, Laettner dribbled once to his left, turned and sank a jump shot. Duke advanced to the Final Four with the 104-103 victory.

In only his fourth year at Georgia Tech and seventh overall, Paul Hewitt led the Yellow Jackets to the 2004 championship game in San Antonio against Connecticut. Georgia Tech fell 82-73.

Tournament fact

All the head coaches in the 1998 Final Four were making their first appearance as a Final Four head coach. That was the seventh time this had happened and the first since 1959. The other five times were the first five tournaments from 1939-43.

Indiana coach Branch McCracken argued with the scorer over the amount of fouls on Kansas center B.H. Born during the 1953 championship game in Kansas City, Missouri. The Hoosiers went on to defeat Kansas, 69-68, to win its second title. The first came 13 years earlier in 1940 when McCracken became the youngest coach ever to win the championship at 31 years of age.

Tournament trivia

Question...

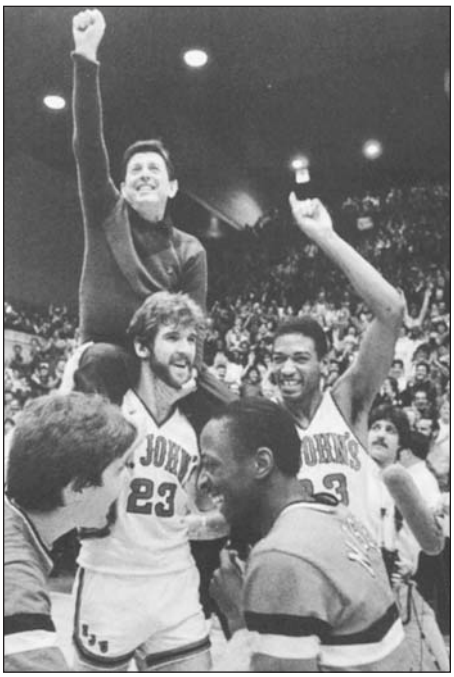
Who is the only player to play for two schools in two different Final Four championship games?

Answer...

Bob Bender, former coach at Washington, played in the 1976 title game for Indiana's title-winning team, and two years later scored seven points for Duke in a losing cause to Kentucky in the season's final game. Steve Krafcisin is the only other player to play in two Final Fours for two different schools. Krafcisin played for North Carolina in 1977 and Iowa in 1980.



St. John's (New York) Sports Information

In 24 years of coaching, Lou Carnesecca of St. John's (New York) compiled more than 500 career wins and 18 NCAA tournament appearances, including a trip to the Final Four in 1985.

Tournament trivia

Question...

Has a school ever won the title game while playing in its home city?

Answer...

Yes, three times. CCNY won the title in New York City in 1950 and UCLA won in 1968 and 1972 in Los Angeles.

Question...

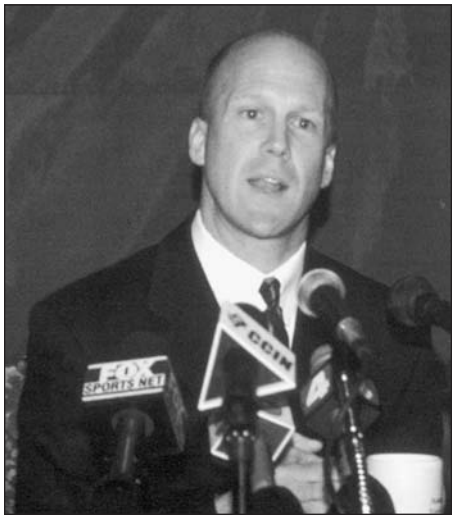
In the second round of the 2004 tournament, two No. 1 seeds were upset. They were Kentucky and Stanford. The teams that beat them were from the same state. What state?

Answer...

Alabama. UAB upset Kentucky and Alabama beat Stanford.



St. Louis Sports Information

The Boise State Pavilion has hosted 40 first- and second-round games in the NCAA tournament including this year. Brad Soderberg coached Wisconsin, which was one of eight teams to play at the Idaho school in the 2001 tournament. Soderberg is now trying to lead St. Louis to a tournament berth.

Legendary coach Phog Allen is shown the day before Allen Fieldhouse was dedicated in his honor. The arena has hosted 37 NCAA tournament games.

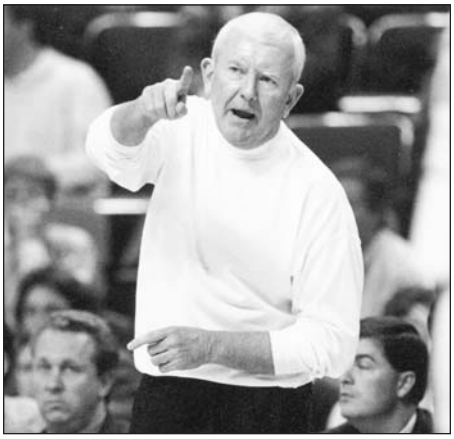
Tournament trivia

Question...

Steve Kerr was the starting guard for the Arizona Wildcats in 1986, missed the 1987 season with an injury and returned to help lead the Wildcats to the Final Four in 1988. Who started in Kerr's place in 1987?

Answer...

Kenny Lofton, who went on to have a career as a Major League baseball all-star outfielder.



St. Louis Sports Information

Charlie Spoonhour has taken St. Louis to the NCAA tournament three times, the most by any Billiken coach. In 1995, his team was a part of the only tournament games ever played in Baltimore Arena as St. Louis fell to Minnesota in overtime in the first round.

The Carrier Dome in Syracuse, New York, has played host to 36 NCAA tournament games, including some featuring its own Orange. In 1986, David Robinson led No. 7-seed Navy to an upset victory over Rony Seikaly and No. 2-seed Syracuse.

Tournament trivia

Question...

Have two teams from the same state ever played each other in the championship game?

Answer...

Yes, Cincinnati defeated Ohio State in both 1961 and 1962.

Tournament trivia

Question...

From 1956 to 2003, the NCAA tournament bracket was divided into four different regions. During that time, which region produced the most national champions?

Answer...

The West/Far West with 18, next was the Midwest with 13; the South/Southeast/Mideast, 10; and the East, seven. Remember that any team, regardless of its geographical location, could play in any region to best balance the bracket in the committee's judgment.

Philadelphia has hosted many NCAA tournament games, but in 1954 the boys of La Salle had to leave town to compete for the title. They returned triumphantly with trophy in tow after defeating Bradley in the championship game in Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Missouri.

Tournament trivia

Question...

After this year's tournament, seven cities will have used two different facilities to host the Final Four. What are those cities?

Answer...

Atlanta, Evanston (Illinois), Indianapolis, Kansas City (Missouri), Minneapolis, Seattle and St. Louis.

Note: The column "How" indicates how teams qualified for the tournament: "Q" means automatic qualifier and "L" indicates at-large selection. In the "Conference" column, for an independent or conference team that earned automatic qualification by winning the conference tournament of an unofficially recognized conference, that conference is listed in parenthesis. Other notations in the conference column are listed at the end of this section.
