SUPERVISORS GIVEN A LESSON IN NECESSITY OF STRICT ECONOMY

City Fathers, in Caucus Yesterday, Learn That the Sum of $2000 Will Be Balance on Hand at End of Present Year, Against $74,000 on First of Present One—Deputy Auditor Lloyd Prepares Interesting Figures

Items in the expense account of the city and county for present year:
Protection to life and property	$200,000
General Government	60,000
Courts	55,000
Sanitation and health	60,000
Recreation	54,000
Liquor Commission	7,500
Incidentals	10,000
Maintenance of Roads	125,000
Total	$662,000
Revenue for 1913	$564,000
Balance on hand Jan. 1, 1914	$ 2,000
Balance on hand Jan. 1, 1913	$ 74,000

Meeting for six hours, laboring over the new budget which goes into effect the first of the year, the board of supervisors at 2 special caucuses meeting yesterday morning and afternoon had the necessity for strict economy demonstrated to them. Without finally passing on the measure, the city fathers discussed almost every item in it with the result that the majority of the large accounts have been informally agreed upon.

Figures compiled by James Lloyd, deputy city and county auditor, the most important and significant ones of which are given above, plainly corroborate the statement of Supervisor McClellan, chairman of the ways and means committee, that economy must be the watchword of the board in preparing the new budget.

Due to the creation of the new revolving fund, known as the cash fund, by which a sum amounting to about $2,000 a year is set aside, and also to extra expenses of the city and county during the last semi-annual period the balance to be carried over the first of the year is estimated at only about $2,000. This cash balance is made up of one-fourth of one per cent on the assessed value of the real and personal property of the island, which is estimated at $87,000,000.

"Nine persons out of 10," says Lloyd, "do not know what it costs the government for running expenses—the people content themselves with thinking that it consists of paying enormous salaries to officials and clerks. As a matter of fact, a passing resume of the three quarterly reports of the auditor, showing disbursements of current revenues, will bring out that the expense of maintaining the city and county government for a year is approximately as follows:

GENERAL GOVERNMENT: Under this heading comes the salaries of all elective officers, with their office force and office expenses—$60,000 a year; or, which $43,500 are salaries fixed by law.

THE COURTS: Including the salaries and expenses over which we have absolutely no control—$35,000 a year.

SANITATION AND HEALTH: Carrying with it the expense of a city and county physician, hospital and burial expenses, collection and disposal of garbage, milk and food inspectors—$60,000 a year.

RECREATION: Carrying the expense and upkeep of the parks and the Hawaiian band—$45,000 a year.

EXPENSE OF LIQUOR COMMISSION: Over which the city and county has no control—$7,500 a year.

INCIDENTAL EXPENSES: $10,000 a year.

"These figures show an expenditure of $437,500 out of current revenue for current expenses before one dollar can be diverted to the roads from such funds."

With only a $2,000 balance to be carried over, while last January $74,000 was the money on hand the first of the year, the problem presenting itself to the board of supervisors does not appear easy to solve. Though it has been conceded to the present board that it has been by far more economical than its predecessors, in office, they nevertheless have a financial problem on their hands of no small size.

Supervisor McClellan has been putting in every available hour of the day, and the evenings as well, working on the new measure. Chairman of the ways and means committee, a large part of the burden of the budget has been thrown on the shoulders of McClellan, whose experience and ability have stood him in good stead.

One of the largest items coming out of a special fund, is for permanent improvements and is not concerned in the figures given above. A quarter of all the tax receipts is put in this fund, and the use of it is left mainly to the roads committee, of which Supervisor Petrie is chairman. The use to which a great deal of this money is to be put will be decided on before the budget is finally signed by Mayor Fern.

The budget has already been taken up by the board at three special meetings in the last eight days. Yesterday the board members met at 3 o'clock and it was almost 3 o'clock before they adjourned, not taking a recess for luncheon. The items are being taken up one by one, discussed or passed without discussion, and any of all of them may be reconsidered before the measure is disposed of. Suggestions have been made concerning many of them, sometimes to apply the economical knife and prune them off entirely, or trim them down. But nothing so far of a radical nature in the way of economy has been agreed upon.

The expenses must be kept within the revenue—that is the cardinal rule they seemed determined to enforce. And until the measure has been gone over entirely and a total struck, a close approximation of the disbursement as against the revenue cannot be fixed.

Bill Would Give Additional Funds For Postoffice

Secretary Desha Discusses the Matter of Mahuka Site Building with the Architects

By C. S. ALBERT
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 27.—Initial steps have been taken to secure an additional $125,000 for the new federal building on the Mahuka site in Honolulu. It is believed that this sum will be added to one of the appropriation bills during the regular session this winter.

A bill providing for the increase of cost has been introduced in the house by Secretary Desha, acting for Delegate Kalaniana'ole.

The amount carried in the bill would bring the aggregate cost for site and building up to $1,450,000.

The supervising architect of the treasury, in discussing this matter with Secretary Desha, expressed the opinion that a further allowance of $125,000 would leave a total of $950,000 for the new building, exclusive of the site. He believed this would be sufficient to complete the structure in a satisfactory and acceptable manner.

OPPORTUNITY FOR LABOR IN EUROPE GOOD—R. C. BROWN

Representative of Board of Immigration Returns After Two Years Abroad

Returning here after a two-year absence in Europe recruiting labor for the territorial board of immigration, Raymond C. Brown arrived by the steamer Sierra this morning, declaring that the opportunity was never brighter for the success of his work than at this time.

Recalled here by the board, it having been decided to abandon the work, Mr. Brown will appear before the board at the next meeting and report on the splendid condition of several European countries for labor recruiting. "Not only," he says, "is it without difficulty that men can be secured to come to these islands, but the opportunity of chartering steamers to bring them here has never been better. The tonnage rates are much more favorable than formerly, he says.

Raymond C. Brown, who returned from a two-year tour recruiting labor, on the Sierra today.

Letters sent from here by Spanish and Portuguese immigrants, to their friends in the old country, ringing with praise of the islands and their employment here, have had the result, says Mr. Brown, of causing many laborers to wish to leave their native land for Hawaii.

Mr. Brown was last in Russia, where, he says, the success of his work was assured. Before going there he was in Poland. He received the communication from the board ordering him to return in the latter part of September, and on November 5 he sailed for New York.

"I have not seen any of the board members since my return," said Mr. Brown this morning. "I do not know that they plan to discontinue labor recruiting."

Asked what his plans were for the future, he said: "My plans are entirely with the board of immigration. I shall do what they instruct me to do."

The recruiting agent was met at a wharf by many of his old friends with whom he was associated before going into the service of the immigration board. He was, before then, inspector in charge of the federal immigration station here and very successful in his work. There is some talk that he may return to the federal service.

PRINCE IS ILL

TOKIO, Japan, Dec. 8.—Rear-admiral Prince Higashi-Fushimi is ill here with pneumonia.

JAPANESE VISITORS GUESTS OF ARMY AT REVIEW AT SCHOFIELD

Officers of Idzumo and Representatives of Nipponese Government Entertained by Commanders and Members of Brigade Staffs

Review from left to right, Commander Dezo Moriama, of the Imperial Japanese Navy, with a visitor to this city in the steamer Idzumo, and Lieutenant Takao Yamagata. These officers have been the guests of General Funston, General Macomb, and the members of the department and brigade staffs, the Japanese officers made a motor trip to Haleiwa, where luncheon was served, and on the way to the Waialua resort a stop was made at Schofield to witness the review.

The broad plain to the north of the infantry cantonment was thick with troops when the two general officers, with their staffs and the visiting naval men arrived at Lelielua. Horse, foot and wagon soldiers were formed ready for the review, and as soon as the visitors had taken the places near the reviewing point the command moved. Marching in company from the 15th and 1st regiments of infantry made an unusually impressive showing, this being the first review held since the strength of the companies has been materially increased. The organizations now average about 120 men, and this number makes a splendid showing in review. Colonel

Lyman W. V. Kannon, post commander, was the reviewing officer today and the men who marched formed a command that any officer might well be proud of.

Following the infantry, the 4th cavalry and 1st field artillery passed at the walk, trot, and finally thundered by at the gallop. All in all, the review was one of the most impressive and effective garrison ceremonies ever held at Schofield, and the Japanese officers were impressed in their praise of the appearance and discipline of the troops.

Besides the Honolulu officers and their guests, the review was witnessed by practically the entire population of Schofield, other than the troops actually engaged. There are several hundred cavalrymen and artillerymen, who, owing to lack of horses, were unable to take their places in the column, and a number of these turned out as spectators.

After the review the visitors made a short visit to the infantry club, and then took up the journey to Haleiwa.

L. T. PECK, IN NEW YORK, TELLS ABOUT TERRITORY

Will Stay for Franchise Legislation at Regular Session of Congress

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—L. T. Peck, president of the Honolulu Rapid Transit and Land Company, and cashier of the First National Bank of that city, is in New York at the Hotel Astor for a visit here of two weeks. Mr. Peck was in Washington, D. C., before coming here and appeared before the senate's committee regarding the currency bill, as it came from the house of representatives. He said that the bill was in such shape that its adoption would have left the national banks of Hawaii out of consideration.

In an interview here Mr. Peck said: "I was asked to appear before the senate committee to suggest a proper amendment to the currency bill as it came from the house, where Hawaii had been altogether lost sight of. The bill was so framed that it would have automatically dissolved the five insular national banks in the territory. It provided that the federal reserve districts should be limited to continental territory of the United States and that national banks in the association which did not come into the new regional system within a year would be dissolved. After my testimony I was assured by the senate committee that our island national banks would not lose their charters.

To Wait for Regular Session. "I have come on to wait for the regular session of Congress," Mr. Peck went on to say. "The charter of our street railway system has been

"Everybody is waiting to see what is going to happen," A. W. T. Bottomley of Bishop & Co., bankers, responded to an inquiry about business conditions on the mainland, when seen after his return in the Sierra this morning from a trip extending to New York. Asked about the sentiment regarding the currency bill, he continued:

"All the bankers feel very anxious about the currency bill and the form it is going to take. The bill that is now written makes a great scattering of reserves and naturally a changing of credits in the great centers.

"The intent of the bill is to withdraw money from the great centers like New York and Chicago, where the most business is done, to the farming regions and thus distribute it more evenly throughout the country. There is much uncertainty as to how it will work out in this respect, which is already having an effect in the large centers. It is difficult to obtain money for new enterprises and extensions of old ones. Also the bond market is weak.

"I cannot say anything about the disposition of the promoters of the bill to meet the views of the banking fraternity, although undoubtedly efforts are being made to bring both sides together.

"People in the East are taking a great deal of interest in Hawaii. They are eager to gain information regarding the islands. Many who have talked with me think Hawaii has not been

PEARL HARBOR SITUATION CAUSES DANIELS TO URGE BIG DRYDOCK ON THE COAST

Recommends That Congress Enter Contract with Union Iron Works on Basis of Tonnage Handled—No Suggestion That Local Project Be Abandoned, but Urgent Need for Accommodation of Navy Vessels is Emphasized

[Associated Press Cable]
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 5.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has asked Congress to enter into a contract with the Union Iron Works of San Francisco for the construction of a huge drydock capable of handling navy vessels. He urges that the contract be made on the basis of tonnage handled for the government by the firm's proposed drydock and says that the drydock should be 1100 feet long, 120 feet wide and 35 feet deep.

This drydock, it is estimated, would cost $2,500,000. The collapse of the structure at Pearl Harbor and the inaccessibility of Mare Island together with the present urgent need of such a drydock are given as the determining needs for the move made by Daniels.

The Associated Press dispatch above does not suggest that the Pearl Harbor drydock is to be given up, and those conversant with the Pearl Harbor situation declare that it will not be given up. The dispatch above evidently refers to the need for a large drydock in the Pacific capable of handling navy vessels within a short time from now, and indicates that the navy department does not expect the Pearl Harbor structure to be completed at as early a date as the Union Iron Works might finish the drydock Secretary Daniels urges.

NEW ZEALAND WOULD HAVE NAVY UNDER CONTROL OF COLONIAL GOVT.

[By Latest Mail]
WELLINGTON.—The naval statement was made by the premier, Mr. Massey, in the house of representatives. He said that Colonel Allen, the minister of defense, had arranged with the admiralty that New Zealand should train her own personnel, the admiralty lending a sea-going training ship and the necessary complement of officers and men to be under the administration of the New Zealand government. The admiralty were also to station in New Zealand waters two light cruisers formerly belonging to the Australasian squadron. After his return Colonel Allen submitted to his colleagues this arrangement, with an additional proposal for the early building of a cruiser of the Melbourne type, which the admiralty deemed most suitable for the protection of commerce. The government decided that the offer of two such light cruisers was an excessive departure from the 1903 agreement, and asked the admiralty to substitute two Bristol cruisers, the government undertaking to provide an additional £50,000. The admiralty telegraphed on October 2 refusing because the available British were required elsewhere and were superfluous in New Zealand waters.

Falling a satisfactory arrangement before next session the government proposed building in Great Britain a last cruiser, probably a Bristol, costing about £400,000. This ship, or any other acquired by New Zealand, would be administered by New Zealand in time of peace, but would automatically pass under the direct control of the admiralty on an outbreak of hostilities; it would also be available for admiralty purposes if otherwise urgently required. Meanwhile the government takes the Pliomet to begin training men, anticipating no difficulty as regards sufficient recruits.

The admiralty had agreed to continue the present arrangement where by two naval cadetships at Osborne and Dartmouth were to be at the disposal of New Zealand, but the ordinary channel for naval cadets, probably six annually, would be the Australian.

The debate on the proposals was reserved until Colonel Allen introduces the bill. Sir Joseph Ward said that the light cruisers offered were quite insufficient, and he asked for full information on the financial aspect of the proposals.

That the Kamehameha school has a troupe of songsters and musicians which any institution might well be proud of was amply demonstrated Saturday evening by the concert given in Bishop hall for the benefit of the athletic association.

where the luncheon proved a happy occasion in every way. A return will be made to town early in the afternoon.

Tomorrow morning Admiral Moore and General Funston will return the calls of Captain Moriyama, aboard the Idzumo, at 10 and 10:30 o'clock, respectively.

The Japanese cruiser is now scheduled to sail at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Y. M. C. A. Entertains Men

The petty officers and men of the cruiser Idzumo were this morning the guests of the local Japanese Young Men's Christian Association in a sight-seeing tour of Honolulu via the Rapid Transit. Armed with specially prepared guide books, compiled and printed shortly before the arrival of the cruiser, the men embarked upon the street cars at 9 o'clock and spent several hours riding about the city, talking in the many points of interest. Shore leave continues until 7 o'clock this evening and will begin again tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock. Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore will this evening entertain Consul-general and Mrs. Hisakichi Etaki and Captain Moriyama and his officers at dinner. The Idzumo is scheduled to sail for Mazatlan, Mexico, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The fact that the Idzumo, berthed at the navy wharf, was open to visitors yesterday caused thousands of persons to take advantage of the opportunity to inspect the vessel. Perhaps no foreign ship has ever entered this harbor and drawn the number of interested spectators as did the Idzumo and from early morning until late in the afternoon her decks were filled with people in all walks of life and of every nationality. Japanese, of course, being the majority. Petty officers, attached in the natty service uniforms of the tropics, met the visitors at the gangplank and escorted them over the vessel, pointing out everything of interest from fighting turrets to engine room. The morning was given over to school children and members of the local Red Cross Society and it is estimated that 7000 persons took advantage of the occasion. The vessel was thrown open to the public at 1 o'clock, and throughout the afternoon people came and went with the result that when the vessel was closed shortly after 3 o'clock, more than 15,000 persons had been aboard.

Visitors on Idzumo
One of the most interesting features of the afternoon was the appearance on board of five Japanese men, laborers all, who were pinned to their coats the medals which designated that they had served their country in either the late Japanese-Russian war or the struggle between the Chinese and the Japanese. Officers they had been, perhaps, and they walked just a little straighter than did their fellow countrymen around them. Besides the bits of gold or silver they were nothing to distinguish them from the others but, as they left the boat, the sentry at the gangplank snapped his piece to the present in graceful salute. Deep in the bowels of the ship, a trumpeter sounded a call at 3 o'clock which was the signal for the visitors to depart and the vessel was soon cleared. Two of the five veterans had cause to return to the ship sometime after, and they were allowed on board without a question. The vessel was opened to visitors at 5 o'clock this morning, but closed again at noon. Yesterday afternoon a large number of officers and men of the cruiser attended services at Central Union church, the various local Japanese ministers officiating.

One of the prettiest events of the season took place at the new Japanese consulate on Nuuanu street Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Hisakichi Etaki, wife of the consul-general, was hostess at an "at home" for the local army and navy officials, members of the consular corps and Japanese and American residents. Mrs. Etaki was assisted by her husband, Commander Moriyama of the Idzumo and K. Naito, secretary of the legation. More than 500 persons visited the consulate during the afternoon. The place had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and a Hawaiian quilter furnished the music. In the receiving line were Consul-general and Mrs. Etaki and their daughter, Miss Teiko Etaki; Captain K. Moriyama, Secretary and Mrs. K. Naito, Mr. and Mrs. Takashima, Mr. and Mrs. Kondo, A. Harada and Mr. Furokawa. Practically every foreign consul in Honolulu called during the afternoon, as well as army and navy officers and prominent American and Japanese residents. During the evening, the Japanese residents of Honolulu entertained the officers of the cruiser at a dinner at the Tokiwa Club, Nuuanu street, where all made merry until a late hour. The coastmaster was Y. Akai, manager of the local branch of the Yokohama Specie Bank, and several business men, as well as the Idzumo officers, made brief addresses.

The review at Schofield Barracks and the dinner by Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore this evening will practically end the social and of the cruiser's visit. Coaling and the loading of tons of native fruit will be completed tomorrow noon, and the vessel will proceed on her way to Mexico at 3 o'clock.

treated fairly. They are surprised at the adoption of free sugar in the tariff bill.

San Francisco people are enthusiastic over the exposition and what it means. They expect very great benefits for the whole Pacific coast from the opening of the Panama Canal, not only with respect to increased commerce, but to the introduction of cheap labor from Europe for developing the country. Even now many of the immigrants arriving at New York come West, the people believing this to be a region where prosperity is assured to them. With direct European immigration to the coast after the canal is opened, it is expected that a great tide of Europeans will spread over the Pacific coast and Northwest states.

Building operations in San Francisco are not so brisk as they have been, the financial depression having caused slackness in this line as well as others.

Both on the coast and in the East the income tax law is causing much confusion, its complications being yet beyond the grasp of most people having to do with it.

COLONEL RAFFERTY MAY BE RELIEVED OF COMMAND HERE

That Colonel William C. Rafferty, commanding the coast defenses of Oahu, may soon be transferred, and that there is a chance of his being given the important command of the Pacific coast artillery district, is a rumor given prominence on the coast, and published in some of the newspapers there. No official word to this effect has been received here, but in service circles it is not considered unlikely that Colonel Rafferty will be given the more important command.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer of recent date, says: "General Charles J. Bailey, commanding the coast defenses of Puget Sound, returned recently from Los Angeles. General Bailey is now the ranking coast artillery officer on the Pacific slope, and as such is the commander of the coast defenses of that branch of the service. While in Los Angeles General Bailey received the news that his nomination to be a brigadier-general had been confirmed by the senate. As the result of this promotion General Bailey will be given a new station, and while no official news has been given out it is the general opinion that he will be assigned to command the artillery district of which Fort Totten, near New York City is headquarters.

"Colonel Rafferty, now in command of the defenses at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, will probably relieve General Bailey as commander of this district." At the present time the Pacific Coast Artillery District is without a separate commander, and if Colonel Rafferty were assigned to the coast defenses of Puget Sound he would be the senior officer of the district, and the district command would devolve on him.

FORMAL CHARGES READY IN FIGHT TO OUST PACHECO

Written Complaints To Be Presented at Democratic Meeting To Be Held Tonight

Seven formal charges in writing, complaining of acts alleged to have been committed by Chairman M. C. Pacheco of the Democratic territorial central committee against the best interests of the party, will be filed tonight when the fight to oust the chairman comes to a head. This was stated today by the Democrats who are seeking to remove Pacheco.

The charges deal largely with indorsements made either by the central committee or by Pacheco personally. Charles Barron, who is one of the leaders in the movement to oust Pacheco, said this morning that charges will deal with indorsements of men who are declared to be "Republicans, as well as with what he brands as the "star-chamber tactics" of the committee under its present chairman. "We want the work of the Democratic organization in this territory to be entirely above-board," said Barron this morning, "and the first test vote tonight will very likely come on the question of an open meeting. Every member of the committee who is opposed to Pacheco will vote for an open meeting. There has been altogether too much secrecy and star-chamber tactics about the committee's work in the past; in fact, not even the Democrats at large are able to find out what the territorial committee and the national committee are doing.

"At least four indorsements for postmasterships were illegally made; in other cases, known Republicans were indorsed; the party rules have not been lived up to by the chairman and other things have been done that are against fair play and policy. If the Democratic party is to have the respect of the people of Hawaii, it must act fairly as a party and must be above-board in everything."

A number of proxies have been made out by members of the committee and will be used in the effort to oust Chairman Pacheco. The meeting is called for 7 o'clock in L. L. McCandless's office in the McCandless building, Bethel street, and it is prophesied that the occasion will be a lively one. The Democratic county committee, of which Barron is vice-chairman, will hold a meeting next Wednesday night to plan a welcome to Governor Pinkham.

PROGRESSIVES SHOW FAITH

Republicans and Democrats may smile occasionally at Bull Moose exuberance and high hopes for the future, and the recent desertions from Bull Moose ranks, including Prendergast of New York, will certainly not be overlooked by the critics of Roosevelt et al., but the Progressives must be reckoned with as a party. Simultaneously with the news of desertions from the ranks one finds in the last few months evidences of accessions also and even more striking evidence of solidarity.

Thus in Kansas the Progressives some time ago took action similar to that in California last week, refusing to form any kind of an alliance with the Republican party unless the Republican party genuinely accepts Progressive principles.

From Topeka comes the following dispatch:

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 26.—Progressives from forty counties in state conference today cheered the statement of W. R. Stubbs, former governor, that Theodore Roosevelt was the only man who could defeat President Wilson for re-election, adopted resolutions calling for complete state, district, county and township offices in Kansas in 1914 and decided the Progressives could better afford to lose in the next election than to amalgamate with the Republican party. The resolutions adopted say in part:

"Nothing has occurred since the Progressive convention in Chicago to warrant any change in the viewpoint on the part of the Progressives.

"We warn Progressives not to be diverted from their principles by the talk of amalgamation on the part of those who are interested in the jobs.

"The Republican party has not become progressive merely by holding a national convention and passing a few new rules of party management, a pretense with which to catch Progressive votes. The Republican party can become progressive only by the genuine acceptance of the progressive principles set forth in our national platform and the safeguarding of these principles by such reforms in party organization as always will protect the right of the voters against the machinations of party bosses.

"The Republican party nationally is without a recognized leader, as it is locally. Undoubtedly if leaders come forth and show themselves really worth following, the party will swing into line with enough votes to carry elections. But, nationally as well as locally, the men high in party councils cannot hope to gain the confidence of the rank and file if the rank and file believe the leaders are trying to advance their own political fortunes first and afterwards do the party a little good if they can conveniently so arrange matters.

DECENCY DEMANDS ACTION

Honolulu's need for a Board of Censors—with power to censor and with authority to direct the police department to follow out its recommendations—once more has been driven home to the theater-going public of Honolulu. During the past week a company has been appearing at the Bijou theater in a performance marred by frequent vulgarity and profanity. Not the minor profane words which the comedian of unlimited ability makes use of to get laughs from "low-brows," but the worse profanity of indescribable nastiness. Having escaped with criticism for minor infractions of the rules of decency, this company seems to be of the opinion that "anything goes" in Honolulu and in the production referred to there appeared to be no limit.

Among the vulgarities of the show was the singing of a "Barbary Coast" favorite. One of the acts is alleged to represent a notorious resort of San Francisco's Barbary Coast but the sole resemblance was in the deportment of members of the company.

It was during the scene last referred to that two Hebrew comedians made use of considerable profanity, endeavoring to disguise their language through the use of little tin horns through which they blasphemed at each other. The intent of the language was evident. One of the men addressed the other with an expression of three words, while the latter retorted in kind and added the vilest expression in the language—a fighting expression where red-blooded men congregate.

That the performance ended Saturday night is good for Honolulu and it is to be hoped that no performance of a like nature will be attempted by the company or allowed by the management. The blame for such stage offerings does not rest entirely with the producers and actors but should be shouldered equally by the management of any house that tolerates outrages of decency.

In any event it is a striking example of the necessity of the board of censors, which board should be given authority to close, if necessary, any performance that does not come within the accepted definition of decency.

UNCLE COMMITTED TO AVIATION

Aviation's value in wartime is recognized by Secretary of the Navy Daniels and other officials high in Uncle Sam's military administration now to such an extent that it is not strange recent estimates have included a well-developed aviation corps for Hawaii.

In an address upon aeronautics at St. Louis recently, Secretary Daniels declared that aviation will not only tend to limit the duration and scope of hostile operations, but also aid in the control of the seas, an element contributing materially to any nation's power and prosperity. Secretary Daniels said:

"The United States army has seventeen machines, with a total personnel of twenty-four officers. Seven more machines are in sight. There is at present no definite organization, and no plan of co-operation between the army and navy. The latter possesses only four hydroplanes and three flying boats, though it is proposed to buy three more.

"The war aeroplane and war airship today are recognized and proven engines of war by the leading nations of the earth. In practice, our recognition is little more than theoretical.

"Let me say that since it was Wilbur Wright who first gave aviation its impetus by actually flying, it would be a handsome thing for the American people, who are proposing all sorts of monuments to Wright, to perpetuate his memory in the way he would have most approved, by erecting at the Langley laboratory a handsome memorial building, in which to have the first machinery and instruments of the new national institution."

"We need more men who will dare to express their convictions concerning inefficient police officers," declared the Rev. R. E. Smith in a sermon last evening. Yes, and we need more men who will dare to express their convictions concerning inefficient police administration and then go to the polls and vote up to those convictions.

If the supervisors can agree on the principle of establishing an engineering bureau to begin city-planning, they can easily settle the details. And Honolulu will be appreciative.

Now that Medeiros and Revell have been caught on the Coast the interesting question comes up as to what to do with them.

William J. Bryan, Jr., says he isn't going to run for office. This would be reassuring were it final.

Wise Democrats not only have their lightning rods up, but are hanging up their stockings also.

Wonder if Huerta couldn't hire a few Panhursts and Drummonds to send into Chihuahua?

Don't forget the Malihini Christmas tree in your list of Christmas benevolences.

The California Progressives won't even use the name Republican. So there!

Looks as if Wilson may not recognize somebody in San Domingo, either.

L. T. PECK, IN NEW YORK, TELLS ABOUT TERRITORY

Talks of Hawaii's Fight to Protect Industry and on Race Conditions Here

amended by the legislature and a public utilities commission established, and by reason of our being under a territorial form of government all our franchises and laws relating to public lands must be confirmed by Congress. So, you see, we don't have complete home rule.

"Our street railway has been profitable from the start, when we supplanted a London-owned horse car system. We have now 25 miles of tracks in the city of Honolulu, and the main line is double tracked through the center of the city. We are projecting an extension to the naval base at Pearl Harbor, which will bind all the fortifications and military posts. At present our main line runs from the foot of Diamond Head to Fort Shafter.

"The financial situation in Hawaii just now is one of great uncertainty. The prosperity of the islands is absolutely contingent on the prosperity of the sugar industry. The effect of the new tariff legislation thus far, with the certainty of the entire removal of the tariff on sugar about two years hence, has been the cause of a kind of paralyzing fear of what the result will be when this Hawaiian industry is brought into the world conflict with sugar raised by cheap labor in Cuba, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, and the best sugar districts of Europe. Many think a large number of our plantations will be practically put out of business and that only those plantations of the very greatest fertility of soil and superior natural advantages will pull through and meet the situation, which may give fair returns on capital after a fundamental adjustment shall have been consummated.

Consumption Must Increase. "If the price of the future is to be exactly decreased, the tariff differential there will be little hope for the industry in the Hawaiian Islands. However, the probability of increased consumption, coupled with the possible trade combinations in Europe, may keep the average price up to a level which will, perhaps, be more than the cost of producing and marketing the Hawaiian crop. That means that the reduction in price to the consumer will not be measured by the exact tariff reduction.

"Some resentment has been expressed in Congressional centers at the strong fight made by representatives of the Hawaiian sugar industry against the policy of free sugar. I was not born in Hawaii, and have lived there only 13 years, and it is only fair to those Americans who were born in the islands that their countrymen on the mainland should take some account of the situation with respect to Hawaii. It must be remembered that Hawaii has been a part of the United States only about a dozen years. The islands came into the American fold voluntarily by a treaty of annexation. Since that time Hawaii has enjoyed the benefits of an American protective tariff. Before the annexation it had access to the labor markets of the whole world to man its plantations. Now the protection of the tariff is denied its people and the labor markets of the world, through American legislation, are also denied them, and they are now forced to struggle for an industrial existence in competition with those very countries whose cheap labor they are unable to procure.

"But you can depend upon it that Hawaii will make a gallant fight to maintain her industries, hoping meanwhile that further time may be given by Congress before the protective tariff duty on sugar is entirely removed. No Racial Prejudices. "In Hawaii there is excellent feeling between the whites and the Japanese, who number almost half the entire population of the islands. The relations, whether between employers and employes or between the workers of different nationalities, are those of friendliness and amity. America would never be in danger of any trouble from Japan if American citizens of all classes would feel as individuals that they have the honor of their country in their own keeping, and refrain from giving insults to Japanese or any other people, who, under treaty, are accorded a domicile in the United States.

"The wanton insults of thoughtless individuals, or perhaps of certain classes, are only the firebrands which could provoke a conflict with Japan, and then only because the Japanese government would not be able to restrain its own people, who are as quick as we are to resent insults directed against their race."

Mr. Peck will be in New York for the great army and navy football game held Saturday, November 23, at the Polo Grounds. PINKHAM WON'T BE LED BY EARS, SAYS 'HERALD'

The Hawaii Herald says of the new governor: "Opponents of the former territorial administration are unkind enough to say that the best thing about the confirmation of L. E. Pinkham is that it means the removal of Governor Frear. But it is not the passing of the personal element in the former administration that is so important as is the coming of a new one—new in every sense that means progressive government for the islands, which will be in accord with the national administration and its policies."

"Pinkham will start in with a fair stock of enemies and we are willing to grant that he will have more before he finishes his term, as some have hastened to prophesy, unless the heretofore dictators of territorial policies suddenly change to new views and become admirers and supporters of one who will not take orders. And even though the Advertiser is right when it says that Pinkham will have 'this community by the ears throughout his term,' we believe this is better than that our chief island executive should be led by his ears, by special interests."

"Pinkham will neither be led, nor driven. Instead, he will lead. Certainly, a leader for a ruler is far better than a puppet."

'GET TOGETHER WITH NEW GOVERNOR,' SAYS LATEST MAUI NEWS

Now that Pinkham is governor of Hawaii, it is time to get together and support the man who is to rule for the next four years. Bickering will do no good and, if Pinkham does not meet with the approval of many people, they can work for a change later on. There is no sense in "bucking" the new governor at present. He is here to stay, and we will all have to make the best of it.—Maui News.

RED CROSS SEAL SALE BRINGS IN SUM OF $3500

James A. Rath, agent in the Hawaiian Islands for the Red Cross Christmas seals, announced this morning that a meeting of the Anti-Tuberculosis League has been called for next Friday evening to decide what shall be done with the proceeds of the local sale. The recent campaign carried on by the women of Honolulu netted $2910.30, and it is believed that the island sales will increase this amount to $3500.

The tabulated results of the campaign by districts show some interesting figures. Mr. Rath has prepared several copies and given the figures for publication. Following is a list of the different districts covered and the amount of each:

- Kaimuki, $80; Kapahulu, $27.50; Waikiki, $20; Punahou-kai and Moiliili, $35.50; Punahou-uka and Manoa, $130.50; the Schools, $39; Makiki, $75.80; Kalia, $23; Kukuluaeo, $37.50; Kewalo, $27; the Plains, $104.50; Prospect street and vicinity, $53.75; Punchbowl, makai, $111.30; King street makai between Alakea and River, $429.20; block between Betanina, Akaka, King and Nuuanu, $336.50; Kaakopuna-kai, $45.65; block between School, Fort, Betanina and River, $28.00; Punchbowl West to Nuuanu, $34; block between Wylie, Nuuanu, School and Liliha, $52.50; Kawaula, $27.05; Athletic Park and vicinity, $32.30; Iwilei and vicinity, $89.50; Kaulauea West, $38.05; Alewa Heights and Kunawai, $32.30; Palama-uka, $39.60; Palama and Kallhi-uka, $34.30; Kalihi, $35.80; Nuuanu above Wylie, $20.70; Army and Navy, $250.55; Plantations, $141; miscellaneous contributions, $36.10 and $5.

DROPSY AND BRIGHT'S DISEASE

Nearly everybody knows that when the dropsy comes so fast in Bright's Disease that the patient has to be tapped, that the case is hopeless so far as the old treatment is concerned. We never heard of a case recovering that required tapping until Fulton's Renal Compound was evolved. Under the Renal Compound recoveries are frequently reported even in this supposed hopeless stage. We will cite two cases:

F. H. Chandler of Clay, New York, was a very serious case. As high as four quarts of water were drawn at a tapping. He was put on Fulton's Renal Compound and a year thereafter resumed employment.

Another—Patient six years old, son of A. C. Dean of Oakland, Cal. was tapped eight times; even had to be tapped after being put on Fulton's Renal Compound, but the tapping grew further apart and he made recovery and was going to school last advice.

If you have Bright's Disease do not owe it to your family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before it is too late. Ask for pamphlet or write to Fulton Co., San Francisco.

FRED C. SMITH HONORED BY ALOHA TEMPLE

Fred C. Smith was elected, illustrious potentate of Aloha Temple, A. O. N. M. S., at the annual meeting of the members of that fraternity in the Masonic Temple Saturday evening. Other officers chosen were W. H. Goetz, chief rabban; George H. Angus, assistant rabban; Thomas E. Wall, high priest and prophet; Lester Petrie, Oriental guide; H. C. Bruns, recorder; H. E. Webster, treasurer, and J. S. McCandless, representative in the Imperial Council. F. C. Smith, C. G. Bartlett and J. D. Tucker were elected trustees.

The meeting was perhaps the most enthusiastic ever held by the local organization, and following the reading of reports and the settling of business, the matter was taken up concerning the 13 novitiates who will tread the burning sands at the Moana Hotel next Saturday afternoon during the annual ceremonial session, which is to be followed by a banquet in the evening. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, after a drill by the Arab Patrol, the candidates will be marched to the capitol grounds, where waiting automobiles will convey them to the Moana Hotel.

Those who are destined to become members of the organization are Lieutenant Baxter, U. S. A., Coast Artillery; W. R. Haley, Rev. J. W. Wadman, C. Henkels, George N. Williams, William Henning, Count Reinecke, Joseph Sewall, Rudolph Buchly, Charles Marques, Henry Giles, John Lucas and Lieutenant Ball, U. S. A.

Fort Shafter Notes

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
FORT SHAFTER, Dec. 8.—Leave of absence under exceptional circumstances for a period of two months has been granted 2nd Lieut. William C. Rose, 2nd Infantry. Lieutenant Rose will avail himself of his leave on the departure of the January transport for the mainland.

The hegira from the tent quarters for certain of the officers of the 2nd Infantry begins this week, as a few of the cantonment quarters will be ready for occupancy. As fast as others are made ready other officers will make the move across the "gully." Lieut. L. G. Mathews will be first to make the change. Some delay has been caused by waiting for water connections to be completed, but these arrangements are now well along and Captain Watkins can shortly turn over enough completed quarters to house the married juniors of the regiment. Work on the barracks and mess halls for the troops to be quartered in the cantonment will begin today and for this work Captain Watkins will have 44 additional workmen at his disposal. That number of enlisted men was detailed by orders of the 6th to report for duty as carpenters. Addition to the quantity of tools required has been provided for so the work can now go forward at high speed.

To accommodate in comfort the crowd of spectators that daily gather for the ball games, arrangements have been concluded whereby stands seating 500 will be constructed. These stands will be built of canvas and are to be portable so that they may be easily moved from off the parade ground when the small parade with which Shafter is provided is needed for parades and reviews. The structure will be in sections, each section to be 16 feet in length with a height of 10 feet. The funds to provide for the material will come from the appropriations for athletics and will be money well spent. A well-constructed backdrop of wire on high supports has already been installed back of the diamond and the stands to be built will make baseball arrangements at Shafter complete.

Corporal James E. Riley by reduction at his own request and transfer to Company C has been made available for appointment as sergeant in the latter company and under date of December 6 was appointed to that grade and detailed as trumpeter sergeant of the regiment. Sergeant Riley thus fills the grade and place of Sergeant Archer, discharged.

Regimental Commissary Sergeant Lee Cohen, 2nd Infantry, finished up a term of enlistment on Sunday, the 7th, and was duly discharged. He will re-enlist in the regiment today and will, in consequence, be continued in the grade of commissary sergeant.

There is no guessing about it. Millions of headaches are cured by Stanton's Headache Cure.

The decree upholds the inheritance tax except in regard to partnership interests of the sugar magnate and the net taxable value of the estate. The higher court says the partnership interests of Claus Spreckels in the Hawaiian Islands are taxable in California for inheritance fees. The net value of the estate on which the heirs must pay taxes the court fixes at $9,240,103.78.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Following is the message of President Wilson in its entirety, at the opening of the regular session of the Tuesday, December 2. In this message President Wilson deals extensively with the present Mexican situation:

Gentlemen of the Congress: In pursuance of my constitutional duty to "give to the Congress information of the state of the Union," I take the liberty of addressing you on several matters which ought, as it seems to me, particularly to engage the attention of your honorable bodies, as of all who study the welfare and progress of the nation.

I shall ask your indulgence if I venture to depart in some degree from the usual custom of setting before you in formal review the many matters which have engaged the attention and called for the action of the several departments of the government or which look to them for early treatment in the future, because the list is long, very long, and would suffer in the abbreviation to which I should have to subject it. I shall submit to you the reports of the heads of the several departments, in which these subjects are set forth in careful detail, and beg that they may receive the thoughtful attention of your committees and of all members of the Congress who may have the leisure to study them. Their obvious importance, as constituting the very substance of the business of the government, makes comment and emphasis on my part unnecessary.

The country, I am thankful to say, is at peace with all the world, and many happy manifestations multiply about us of a growing cordiality and sense of community of interest among the nations, foreshadowing an age of settled peace and good will. More and more readily each decade do the nations manifest their willingness to bind themselves by solemn treaty to the processes of peace, the processes of frankness and fair concession. So far the United States has stood at the front of such negotiations. She will, I earnestly hope and confidently believe, give fresh proof of her sincere adherence to the cause of international friendship by ratifying the several treaties of arbitration awaiting renewal by the senate. In addition to these, it has been the privilege of the department of state to gain the assent, in principle, of no less than 21 nations, representing four-fifths of the population of the world, to the negotiation of treaties by which it shall be agreed that whenever differences of interest or of policy arise which can not be resolved by the ordinary processes of diplomacy they shall be publicly analyzed, discussed, and reported upon by a tribunal chosen by the parties before either nation determines its course of action.

Only One Standard. There is only one possible standard by which to determine controversies between the United States and other nations, and that is compounded of these two elements: Our own honor and our obligations to the peace of the world. A test so compounded ought easily to be made to govern both the establishment of new treaty obligations and the interpretation of those already assumed.

There is but one cloud upon our horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us, and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America until Gen. Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico; until it is understood on all hands, indeed, that such pretended governments will not be countenanced or dealt with by the government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America; we are more than its friends, we are its champions; because in no other way can our neighbors, to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship, work out their own development in peace and liberty. Mexico has no government. The attempt to maintain one at the City of Mexico has broken down, and a mere military despotism has been set up which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last cast aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator. As a consequence, a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most elementary and fundamental rights either of her own people or of the citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded, and which threatens, if long continued, to imperil the interests of peace, order, and tolerable life in the lands immediately to the south of us. Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the Republic and the rights of its people, he would have set up nothing but a precarious and hateful power, which could have lasted but a little while, and whose eventual downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. But he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been completely isolated. By a little every day his power and prestige are crumbling and the collapse is not far away. We shall not, I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions.

Current Reform Measure. I turn to matters of domestic concern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and necessary to set credit free from arbitrary and artificial restraints. I need not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not needed that the members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you, in addition, the urgent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the country. The pending currency bill does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as it should; and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit. The farmers, of course, ask and should be given no special privilege, such as extending to them the credit of the government itself. What they need and should obtain in legislation which will make their own abundant and substantial credit resources available as a foundation for joint, concerted local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

Farming Allowed to Lag. It has, singularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the lives of industry, upon the cries of the crowded market place and the clangor of the factory, but it is from the quiet interstices of the open valleys and the free hillside that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be silent, every office deserted, every factory fallen into disrepair. And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops, and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his note, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures, lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly as it might be on the counter of the banker.

The agricultural department of the government is seeking to assist as never before to make farming an efficient business, of wide co-operative effort, in quick touch with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to see our way very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution. The treasury of the United States has, by a timely and well-considered distribution of its deposits, facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must not allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients. We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the handicap and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food.

Anti-Trust Legislation. Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the Congress recently authorized the creation of a special commission to study the various systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods will be best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the senate and house will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recently formed plans of the department of agriculture may be made to serve them very greatly in their work of framing appropriate and adequate legislation. It would be indiscreet and presumptuous in anyone to dogmatize upon so great and many-sided a question, but I feel confident that common sense will produce the results we must all desire.

Turn from the farm to the world of business which centers in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thoughtful observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business communities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectively than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sherman anti-trust law stand, unaltered, as it is, with its debatable ground about it, but that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation; and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fearer to all concerned. No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central subject of our deliberations during the present session; but it is a subject so many-sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the business men of this country should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect. These are all matters of vital domestic concern, and besides them outside the charmed circle of our national life in which our affections command us, as well as our consciences, there stand out our obligations toward our territories over sea. Here we are trustees. Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, are ours, indeed, but not ours to do what we please with. Such territories, once regarded as mere possessions, are no longer to be selfishly exploited; they are part of the domain of public conscience and of serviceable and enlightened state-manship. We must administer them for the people who live in them and with the same sense of responsibility to them as toward our own people in our domestic affairs. No doubt we shall successfully enough bind Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands to ourselves by ties of justice and interest and affection, but the performance of our duty toward the Philippines is a more difficult and debatable matter. We can satisfy the obligations of generous justice toward the people of Porto Rico by giving them the ample and familiar rights and privileges accorded our own citizens in our own territories and our obligations toward the people of Hawaii by perfecting the provisions for self-government already granted them, but in the Philippines we must go further. We must hold steadily in view their ultimate independence, and we must move toward the time of that independence as steadily as the way can be cleared and the foundations thoughtfully and permanently laid.

On Islands Legislation. Acting under the authority conferred upon the president by congress, I have already accorded the people of the islands a majority in both houses of their legislative body by appointing five instead of four native citizens to the membership of the commission. I believe that in this way we shall make proof of their capacity in counsel and their sense of responsibility in the exercise of political power, and that the success of this step will be sure to clear our view for the steps which are to follow. Step by step we should extend and perfect the system of self-government in the islands, making test of them and modifying them as experience discloses their successes and their failures; that we should more and more put under the control of the native citizens of the archipelago the essential instruments of their life, their schools, all the common interests of their communities, and so by counsel and experience set up a government which all the world will see to be suitable to a people whose affairs are under their own control. At last, I hope and believe, we are beginning to gain the confidence of the Filipino peoples. By their counsel and experience, rather than by our own, we shall learn how best to serve them and how soon it will be possible and wise to withdraw our supervision. Let us once find the path and set out with firm and confident tread upon it and we shall not wander from it or linger upon it.

A duty faces us with regard to Alaska which seems to me very pressing and very imperative; perhaps I should say a double duty, for it concerns both the political and the material development of the territory. The people of Alaska should be given the full territorial form of government, and Alaska, as a storehouse, should be unlocked. One key to it is a system of railroads. These the government should itself build and administer, and the ports and terminals it should itself control in the interest of all who wish to use them for the service and development of the country and its people.

Free Land in Alaska. But the construction of railways is only the first step; is only thrusting in the key to the storehouse and throwing back the lock and opening the door. How the tempting resources of the country are to be exploited is another matter, to which I shall take the liberty of from time to time calling your attention, for it is a policy which must be worked out by well-considered stages, not upon theory, but upon lines of practical expediency. It is part of our general program of conservation. We have a freer hand in working out the problem in Alaska than in the states of the union; and yet the principal and object are the same, wherever we touch it. We must use the resources of the country, not lock them up. There need be no conflict or jealousy as between state and federal authorities, for there can be no essential difference of purpose between them. The resources in question must be used, but not destroyed or wasted; used, but not monopolized upon any narrow idea of individual right as against the abiding interests of communities. That a policy can be worked out by conference and concession which will release these resources and yet not jeopard or dissipate them, I for one have no doubt; and it can be done on lines of regulation which need be no less acceptable to the people and governments of the states concerned than to the people and government of the nation at large, whose heritage these

CHINESE BAZAAR WILL NET AT LEAST $1500

The total receipts of the Chinese bazaar, held on the lawn of the Home- stead, King street, Saturday, will amount to considerably more than $1500, according to the announcement made this morning by a member of the committee in charge. The committee has been called to meet this evening to receive the reports of those in charge of the different booths and to determine the net proceeds. The bazaar, held under the auspices of the Chinese Students' Alliance of Hawaii, was a distinct success, and the money derived therefrom will be devoted to forming a building fund for that organization. Decorations of gaily-colored bunting, flags and festoons were used in making attractive the many tents, which served as booths, while in the evening myriads of colored lights, strung from tent to tent and from tree to tree, made a most pleasing effect. The booths were well patronized, and a large crowd was present at all times. The Mandarin dinner served at 8 o'clock drew many patrons, and the cooking was of a style which appealed to all. The Hawaiian band played during the afternoon and evening. Following the close of the bazaar in the evening, a spirited auction sale was held, and many things disposed of, being bought up by people eager to lend their cooperation to the organization for whose benefit the bazaar was held.

The strap of the cap be worn under or on the point of the chin when mounted, instead of on the visor, and that the string or strap of the campaign hat be worn in the same manner, instead of on the back of the head, as is the custom now. This new wrinkle will give American officers more nearly the appearance of the foreign military, who invariably wear the chin strap when mounted.

The recommendation of the department commander that a change be authorized for Hawaii for the wearing of insignia on the olive drab shirt, has been approved by the war department. This change provides that the insignia of rank be worn on one edge of the shirt collar, and the corps device on the other. At the present time it is impossible to tell a captain of cavalry from a captain-doctor, but under the new rule the distinction can be made at a glance.

COAST PAPERS GIVE VOTE FOR PINKHAM AS 46

Associated Press dispatches to the Coast newspapers on the confirmation of Governor Pinkham give the vote as 46 to 24 in favor of Mr. Pinkham. The dispatch to the Chronicle, under date of November 29, says:

WASHINGTON. — The senate today confirmed the nomination of L. E. Pinkham of Massachusetts to be Governor of Hawaii by a vote of 46 to 24. The appointment of Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria publisher, was not acted upon.

President Wilson's nomination of Winfred T. Denison to be secretary of the interior for the Philippines was held up today by Democrats of the senate committee, who want to look into Denison's politics. Denison was an assistant attorney-general under the Taft administration, accredited to the Progressive Republicans.

Nominations of Henderson Martin to be vice-governor, and Clinton R. Riggs to be secretary of commerce and police, were reported favorably.

resources are. We must bend our counsels to this end. A common purpose ought to make agreement easy. Three or four matters of special importance and significance I beg that you will permit me to mention in closing.

Employers' Liability Act
Our bureau of mines ought to be equipped and empowered to render even more effectual service than it renders now in improving the conditions of mine labor and making the mines more economically productive as well as more safe. This is an all-important part of the work of conservation, and the conservation of human life and energy lies even nearer to our interest than the preservation from waste of our material resources.

We owe it, in mere justice to the railway employees of the country, to provide for them a fair and effective employers' liability act; and a law that we can stand by in this matter will be no less to the advantage of those who administer the railroads of the country than to the advantage of those whom they employ. The experience of a large number of the states abundantly proves that.

We ought to devote ourselves to meeting pressing demands of plain justice like this as earnestly as to the accomplishment of political and economic reforms. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization and is vital only as it expresses and embodies it.

An international congress for the discussion of all questions that affect safety at sea is now sitting in London at the suggestion of our own government. So soon as the conclusions of that congress can be learned and considered we ought to address ourselves, among other things, to the prompt alleviation of the very unsafe, unjust and burdensome conditions which now surround the employment of sailors and render it extremely difficult to obtain the services of spirited and competent men such as every ship needs if it is to be safely handled and brought to port.

May I not express the very real pleasure I have experienced in cooperating with this Congress and sharing with it the labors of common service to which it has devoted itself so unreservedly during the past seven months of uncomplaining concentration upon the business of legislation? Surely it is a proper and pertinent part of my report on "the state of the Union" to express my admiration for the diligence, the good temper, and the full comprehension of public duty which has already been manifested by both the houses; and I hope that it may not be deemed an impertinent intrusion of myself into the picture if I say with how much and how constant satisfaction I have availed myself of the privilege of putting my time and energy at their disposal alike in counsel and in action.

JUDGE LARNACH SAYS M'DUFFIE NOT GUILTY OF CONTEMPT OF COURT

"Captain of Detectives McDuffie is in no way guilty of contempt proceedings," stated Second District Magistrate Larnach this morning, following an interview with McDuffie concerning an allegation made that the officer had notified the landlady of the Hau Tree hotel that a search warrant was being drawn up in response to the demand of Miss Leon, a former guest of the hostelry.

"McDuffie assured me that he had made inquiry at the Hau Tree a day before application for a search warrant was received from the boarder. His investigation of the case was prior to the visit of the woman to my court," said Judge Larnach.

The trouble is alleged to have arisen over the demand made by the woman upon her former landlady for a silk garment and a necklace. The ornament was discovered but it was learned that the garment had been destroyed. It was the purpose of the search warrant to assist in the recovery of the missing wearing apparel. A financial settlement was effected on Saturday. Alnahau, erroneously referred to in the morning paper, never figured in the matter in any way whatsoever.

Music Perpetuates Christmas

The idea of Christmas has always been associated with Music—from the solemn, religious chants, hymns and anthems to the lighter carols and gladome songs. In fact, Christmas would probably not be celebrated in our day unless the thought of Christmas had traveled hand in hand with the thought of Music.

And music is best appreciated when derived thru the playing of a

K. OF P. WILL PARTICIPATE IN FLORAL PARADE

P. H. Brooks Lodge No. 1, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, has notified Director-general Dougherty of its decision to make an entry in the coming Floral Parade. The Uniform Rank, K. P., is one of the best costumed of all lodges, and will make a most brilliant entry.

"It begins to seem likely that the fraternal orders will make a big showing in the parade this time," said the director-general. "They are capable, of course, of making a very spectacular feature. Their costumes, their drilling, and the picturesque and interesting ideas which their rituals and ceremonies represent, many of them historic and legendary, are just the things for a parade of the kind we are going to have.

"Fraternal organizations are very strong in Honolulu, and they will be strongly represented among the crowds of visitors. All America is similarly strong in lodge membership. Few things will add more to the pleasure with which visitors will watch the parade than seeing their own lodges make a good showing. And they will go back and tell about it in their lodge meetings at home, all over the country.

"Our Floral Parade committee is not yet complete, but a number of well known workers are on the list. There is a general feeling that it is the duty of all having the interests of the community at heart, and their own interests for that matter, to get in and do all they can for the carnival of which the parade is such a big feature. I am happy to say that when the parade committee organizes, I shall be able to turn over to it a number of assured entries, as already stated, the lodges will make. We are even assured of some entries from the other islands."

ELKS GATHER IN RESPECT TO DEAD BROTHERS

Assembled together in the opera house with their many friends, members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks met in memorial yesterday afternoon and paid a tribute to their leaders who have passed away. Nothing more impressive, or nothing with a solemnity so fitted to the occasion has been witnessed in Honolulu for many days.

The orations of the day were delivered by Wallace R. Farrington, and was a high tribute to the departed Elks, well delivered. Lorrin Andrews spoke impressively, after the Kamehameha Faculty Quartet had rendered "Still, Still, With Thee." G. S. Andrus, J. D. Francis, C. G. Livingston and E. G. Barlett made up the quartet. Mrs. Walter Kendall a contralto solo, "Beyond the Sunset," accompanied by A. H. Ingall. The band gave Chopin's "O Sole Mio," which was also a marked success.

The entire program was carried out without a break.

The program was begun at 2:30 o'clock. The Second Infantry Band opened with "War March of the Priests," after which the ritual services were begun. The roll call of the deceased brothers followed, in the order of their deaths. They were:

Charles A. S. Vivian, James M. Sims, James A. Love, George Hons, Gilbert H. Brokaw, Geo. A. Cooke, Jacob Bearwold, Chas. H. Ramsey, William Dunbar, William E. Taylor, Chas. H. Bishop, Albert J. KENT CALLS YOUNG MEN TO PROGRESS

Congressman Delivers Notable Address Upon Present and Future Issues

(By Latest Mail)

SAN FRANCISCO.—Congressman William Kent was the speaker Saturday night at the first open meeting held by the Young Men's Progressive Club, a newly organized society which already has a large and strong membership. The meeting was held in the assembly room of the Phelan building.

Kent expressly stipulated that his speech should not be described as a "heart-to-heart talk." "I don't mind, though, if it's called a mind-to-mind talk," he said.

After defining in a clear, epigrammatic way the fundamental principles of Progressivism, Kent went on to speak of current issues.

On the Mexican situation he declared most wisely in not trying to "shoot peace into the Mexicans," and declared that there would be a better atmosphere of peace and justice all over the world because of President Wilson's clearheadedness.

"As a result," he said, "our young men are not going to be killed for the benefit of William Randolph Hearst and Harrison Gray Otis."

Progress in Congress.

Congressman Kent declared his belief that the last session of Congress had shown true progress, both in revising the tariff downward and in laboring over the currency bill.

"We had calamity howls from all around that if we passed that tariff bill everything would be wrecked," he said. "But it has passed, and there has been hardly a ripple. As to the effect of it, we're going to have a few things a little cheaper now, but the biggest result will be that the pressure of competition is going to force the manufacturer to cut across lots to the consumer. It may mean a few hardships to individuals, but progress does that; but it's for the great good of us all.

"As to our own state, we'll never notice the tariff change except when we have to buy.

The Currency Bill.

"The currency bill was framed with three ideas in mind. The first was to cure the overcapitalization of capital in New York banks and their affiliations. By creating regional banks, the bill is designed to scatter the currency where it is most needed, and to prevent the yearly panic coincident with the movement of the crops.

"The second idea was to create a greater volume of sound currency. The third was to have greater governmental control of the banking business, and to force banks into closer association, both for their mutual protection and to give the public more confidence in them.

"It was a good bill as it passed the house, and I believe it is being improved in the senate."

After describing President Wilson and his cabinet as "thoroughly honest and progressive," Kent went on to say:

"It was my great privilege to introduce Andrew Furuseth to President Wilson for the purpose of talking over the seamen's bill. The president told Furuseth, simply and quietly, that he knew of his work and sympathized with it.

"The next thing I knew he had appointed Furuseth on his committee for safety at sea, showing that he sympathized with his humanitarian work.

"The president has a fine, clean-cut mind. He does not believe in stirring up the waters unnecessarily. The Lord knows he has trouble enough coming to him to harmonize the different elements of a party that won't harmonize."

Seldom has the gospel of Progressivism been more clearly expounded than Congressman Kent explained it to the Young Men's Progressive Club. Some of his tenets follow:

"I hope this organization will come to include members of all political parties. The ideal of social progress isn't any party's copyright.

"Progress means simply the attempt to adjust social affairs for the general welfare. At times this has been best served by despotism, monarchy, oligarchy. But our ideals today turn toward the high ideal of a chance for the average man.

PLANTERS DON'T INTEND TO USE ONLY FILIPINOS

That Hawaiian planters do not intend to flood the islands with Filipino labor is the statement made to a Manila newspaper recently by a representative of the association, according to the following letter to the Manila Bulletin:

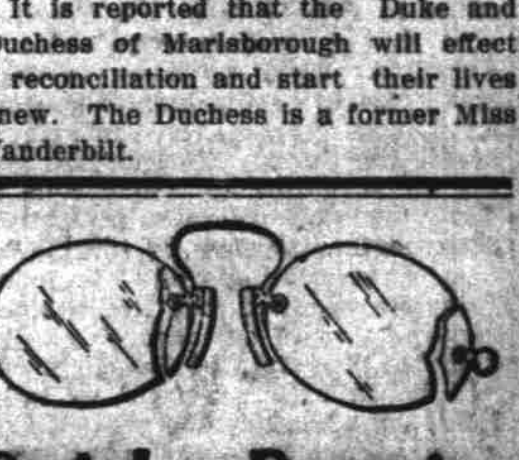

To the Manila Daily Bulletin,
"Dear Sirs: In an interview appearing in a recent issue of your paper treating of the condition of Filipino laborers in Hawaii as reported on by Hugo Miller the following statement is made: "The association will hereafter make special efforts to substitute Filipinos for the laborers of other nationalities as fast as the former can be recruited."

Taking this statement literally, one might get the impression that the Hawaiian planters have in mind the intention of turning off some 30,000 men of other nationalities for the purpose of putting in Filipinos; I do not need to point out to anybody, who knows anything about Hawaii, the utter impracticability and impossibility of such a task from a geographical standpoint alone. What the association really wishes, and this is what Mr. Miller informs me he intended to convey, is to fill vacancies with Filipinos—when same occur.

That our people are well pleased with the Filipinos is a fact; they are proving their worth as field laborers, mill helpers, and overseers, but no increased activity in recruiting is planned; as a fact we are shipping only one-half as many as during last year, and the numbers shipped are largely offset by the returns from Honolulu which are becoming quite a factor.

TRUTHS OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE ARE EXPLAINED BY NOTED LECTURER IN ADDRESS AT OPERA HOUSE.

Large Audience Hears Talk on Teachings That Are of Wide Interest

SPEAKER INTRODUCED BY JUDGE H. E. COOPER

Member of Board of Lectureship, His Utterances Are of Authority on Subject

Speaking to an appreciative audience that filled the Opera House last night, William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, gave an interesting lecture upon Christian Science.

The lecturer was introduced by Judge Henry E. Cooper, who said:

"Friends: You have been invited by First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Honolulu, to listen to a lecture on Christian Science.

"Christian Scientists never proselyte, neither do they argue, but they are always ready to assist all who ask and to make known to all who are willing the Truth as revealed in Christian Science.

"Sooner or later nearly every mortal comes face to face with a crisis. Usually the first effort is to battle against the condition by mere force of will or by reliance on a blind faith in God. In many instances victory seems to be won. Time, however, proves that neither of the results is permanent and the next test shows that the relief was but temporary. It was but the casting out of one belief with another. Deep despair often follows the realization that there was no foundation to the support relied upon and that it was a reed shaken in the wind. It is here that Christian Science solves the problem, after all other helps have been found wanting. There are many devout thinkers who would rejoice if they could but make God their confidence and demonstrate that it is possible for men and women to walk with God and talk with God now as afoottime. For centuries this relationship had been lost. But the message came again and we should be thankful that we live in this day for the way to Life through divine Love has been opened to us by a woman who through years of patient and loving work has established the rule by which we are enabled to recognize the sovereignty of Soul and have an abiding ability to understand God. The world owes much to Mary Baker Eddy, the author of the Christian Science Text Book, Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures, for the blessings that have already been made manifest and for the great uplifting that is to come as the signs following as described by Christ Jesus. The knowledge that man, created in the image and likeness of God, Spirit, is not subject to the passions and appetites which mortal experience tends to fasten upon him comes as the dawn of day after the darkness of night, first, the faint rays of hope and then the fulfillment of the risen day. The serenity of life which follows in the footsteps of Truth and a correct comprehension of the Science of Being is the pearl of great price—that peace which passeth all understanding."

"I take pleasure in introducing Mr. William R. Rathvon, C. S. B., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, who is authorized to speak upon the subject of Christian Science."

Mr. Rathvon said:

"The intelligent study of any science should proceed by the orderly use of its text-books. Its laws and its statements thus learned are to be proved in the class room, in the laboratory, or in the field, as the case may be.

Christian Science, universal in its usefulness and in its availability, is likewise to be learned from its text-book and then proved and demonstrated in all the various avenues and activities of every-day life. Wherever man mingles with man or his interests touch those of his fellow-men."

DEEDS OF THE BIBLE
Christian Science has but one text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. It is not a book to be quickly read or hastily skimmed over, as one would a shallow novel. Nor is it to be approached with bias or prejudice if one would share its riches; but its truths may be proved and in turn imparted by child or sage, who turns its leaves with an open mind. Only the open flower it is that catches the dew and yields its honey to the bee.

Saint and sinner meet on common ground, in the pages of this remarkable book and though it starts all alike at the bottom of the ladder it always lifts up and never drags down. Time and again its covers have been rudely torn open by unfriendly hands in search of phrases to wrench from their context and with which to smite men of straw, yet neither force nor deceit, the blundering of the bear or the cunning of the fox can avail to divert or suppress its tidings of comfort and joy.

It has been asserted that Christian Scientists place their text-book above the Bible as the guide to righteousness. No one can honestly make this allegation who has read the book carefully, for on page 497 of Science and Health are printed these words, the first of a series of tenets of our religion:

"As adherents of Truth we take the inspired Word of the Bible as our sufficient guide to eternal Life."

What more emphatic and explicit negation of such a charge could be demanded?

The truths of Christian Science do not originate in the book Science and Health. They find expression there but their origin is in God. They have always existed and will forever exist. What existed, then, it may be asked, does the study of this book have upon those who have previously been Bible students? Does it supplant the Bible in their reverence and admiration? Is the Book of books less precious to them than before? The answer is, "No." On the other hand Science and Health harmonizes many seeming incongruities in the Bible which have long perplexed layman and theologian; it explains apparent contradictions; it discloses unexpected riches; it gives new significance to favorite passages, and brings neglected ones into favor.

The study and application of its teachings by those who have had little or no familiarity with the Scriptures has made them Bible students and Bible lovers. The one-time atheist, the scoffer and the blasphemer are finding the Gospel a treasure-house of joy and consolation whose unopened doors had been barred against them until unlocked by the Key forged by the hands of a gentle woman who loved all mankind. No other book in modern times has made so many Bible readers.

The text-book of Christian Science was given to the world not to exploit a theory, but to relate a discovery; not to upset religions, but to establish salvation; not to confound materia medica, but to simplify healing; not to condemn the sinner, but to turn him away from his wickedness, that he might live.

It comes bringing liberty, not bondage; toleration, not bigotry; it tells little of hell, but much of God and love. From cover to cover it contains not one threat, not one word of defamation, detraction or vilification of any man's medicine or any man's religion. Its pages teem with love for God and man.

No man can read it with an open heart, and not be a better man for the reading; no sorrowing one need mope in pain or enfeebled by disease need close it in despair. The simple may gather from it wisdom; the wise may gain from it simplicity.

It was written in solitude by a woman whose spiritual hearing was acute enough to catch the words that God has been speaking aloud to dull-eared mankind ever since time began. The message that rang in her ears was not for her alone, but for all her fellow men, living and to live, and she could no more smother it into silence than the trees can knot their eager leaves when they have the message of spring to unfold.

Emerson says in his essay on "Character," "There was a time when Christianity existed in one child," and it can be likewise said that there was a time when Christian Science existed in one devoted woman. But she was faithful to her trust, and before giving her discovery to the world she tested it critically. She became a Christian Science practitioner, the only one in all the world, and put her Science to the touch-stone of healing the sick. It showed as pure gold.

Then followed the writing of her book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," giving the substance of her discovery to the public in concrete and understandable form.

Men may differ in their understanding of inspiration and revelation and may haggle over their being present day possibilities. They may even deny to woman the spiritual perception conceded to man, but neither wrangling nor disputations nor denials have ever brought to poor humanity the roses of health or the fragrance of gratitude. The book, Science and Health, has done both in gracious profusion.

It has fallen to my lot to have known its author intimately in the last few years of her earthly activity. One November day in 1908, Mrs. Eddy called me to her side from my home in Colorado to become a member of that historic household at Chestnut Hill which she once publicly designated "the happiest group of Christian Scientists on earth." I was privileged to share her daily counsel for more than two years, and from the time of my first half hour's heart-to-heart talk with her, down to the afternoon, when she died, she has been a constant presence at her side. I saw her marvelous hands shake her last written words, "God is my life." I have never wavered in my conviction that she has been the chosen evangel of Truth, entrusted with these good tidings of great joy that have been waiting man's readiness since the days when Jesus trod the dusty paths of Syria, and called the blue waters of Galilee.

The establishment of a great religious organization whose 1200 growing branches belt the globe, the installation of a simple form of service which fills those churches twice each week with throngs of worshippers who are drawn neither by music, eloquence, nor sensational sermonizing; the building up of efficient agencies and institutions for the dissemination and protection of a radically new system of ethics; and the launching of a great metropolitan daily in the interests of clean journalism whose success has set a new mark in the newspaper world—these things or any of them would give eminence to the life-work of the most ambitious of men. To a modest woman, Mary Baker Eddy, belongs the credit of them all.

But these achievements, grand as they are, weighed little with her compared with the fruits of her consecrated endeavors to bring more and more of peace on earth and good will to men, and to guide us to a clearer and more practical understanding of the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The applause of men, like their abuse and condemnation, she brushed aside as cobwebs when she was once assured of the approval of God.

I could by the hour recite to you incidents of Mrs. Eddy's wisdom and sagacity, of her courage and steadfastness, of her wit and humor, of her love for little children and her delight in the beautiful, of the inexpressible charm of her manner and the eloquence of her voice, but it is not of these things that she would have me speak.

It was her desire—almost daily expressed—that her followers should disregard her personality and address their thought to the things of God which she has disclosed to them. She would have us study her books and not her personality. She would have us know her by what she wrote and not by how she looked. Years ago she instructed her students to follow her only as she followed Christ, and though she was a rare Leader she was an ideal follower of all that is truly good.

GOD-AS PRINCIPLE.
Man's comprehension of the problems of life is to be measured by his understanding of God. He holds to contrary and widely divergent beliefs about God and hence his interpretations of life are conflicting and discordant. If he concedes to God, the primal cause of all being, limitless power—Omnipotence—and limitless knowledge—Omniscience, and in the best breath attributes to Him the afflictions and disasters of human experience, he is setting up a god of good and evil, of benevolence and cruelty, whom he may try to love but is bound to fear.

The anthropomorphic idea of God as a man-like being of human attributes and qualities enormously magnified, a heritage of mythology, handed down to us through generations of orthodox, is repudiated in Christian Science. For its definition of God, Christian Science consistently turns to the Scriptures.

In our contemplation of Deity, we are thus led to lift our thought from effect to Cause; from the thing created to the creator; from idea to Principle. Thus we come to understand God to be the infinite Personality without corporeality, the Principle of all true being, the supreme good, the same yesterday, today and forever, "in whom there is no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

In contemplating God as infinite Principle, we find our life problems must be worked out according to this unerring Principle of Being, or they will be failures, precisely as failure follows the work of the student in algebra, who ignores the principles of mathematics. The mistakes we make in life and their afflictive results are due to our ignorance of Principle, or to our disregard of the laws expressing Principle, and in all cases are assignable to our own shortcomings and never to Principle itself. The deplorable mistakes in man's history which he designates as sickness and suffering and failure and disaster, will diminish in frequency and virulence as he applies himself to gain a better understanding of divine Principle, and persists in using that understanding in the affairs of his everyday life. He must give it expression to the limit of his cognition, for a principle unexpressed is as futile as a theory untried.

Christian Science stands before the world as a demonstrable religion, one that is to be lived, not merely believed. The standard of proficiency for the Christian Scientist is not how much he believes but how much of that belief he is using in his daily life, in his dealings with his fellow men and in the sanctity of his innermost thoughts.

Hence it is that there is no such thing as a purely theoretical Christian Scientist. No man can become a Christian Scientist by merely believing in the teachings of its text-book without practicing them. We are Christian Scientists only as we put into constant practice our knowledge of our religion, be that knowledge great or small. We are kind and helpful in thought and deed; only as we think health and talk health instead of disease and disaster. We are Christian Scientists only as we say to evil mental suggestion, "Peace, be still." Only as we are loving and courageous, and resolute, and unswerving in our warfare against sin, sickness and death.

BODY'S RESPONSE TO MIND.
It is often charged against Christian Scientists because they rely wholly upon Mind that they do not "do anything" for the sick. When the average man considers the needs of a sick person, his thought at once turns to the medicine bottle and he believes there is nothing being done for the sick man unless he is made to swallow something. According to his preperatory opinions, the sick man should be treated, with something that he can taste or smell or feel, something that the senses can perceive. Otherwise "Nothing is being done for him." He may tell you that attempting to change the condition of a man's body through mind alone is foolishness. And yet—this same intelligent citizen will readily admit that a man's body commonly and frequently undergoes sudden and very marked changes due entirely to mental causes. He will admit that he is subjected to great grief. That sudden fear will produce cold perspiration. That anger will cause the salt water will flow from his eyes if face to flush or pale, the heart to jump, the voice to change.

Now grief, anger and the like are obviously mental, but because their effect on the body is of every-day occurrence, as commonplace as eating and drinking, the lesson they disclose is lost upon the man who hastens to cure Christian Science for achieving what he styles the impossible, yet which has been a part of him since the day when as a crying infant he on his mother's arm shed his first tears.

If then it is conceded that the state of mind may disturb the secretions, causing the tears to flow; or that the state of mind may quicken the action of the heart, causing the blood to rush to the face or away from it; or if the state of mind can affect the organs of the throat causing hoarseness, then it is plain that the state of mind may be held accountable for other derangements of the organs of secretion, or circulation and of speech. And if of these, why not of other organs of the body? If changing grief into joy will stop the flow of tears, or in other words if a change of thought will change the flow of fluid to the eyes, why will not change of thought change the flow of fluids to the stomach? Is it not more rational then to treat dyspepsia with mind than with tablets and powders? And so it is with all other bodily diseases and derangements, they have one and all responded to the curative influence of Mind, administered in Christian Science.

Jesus proved for all time and for all Christendom that the origin of disease was mental and he healed it with mental medicine. He gave himself no concern about physical symptoms, but he destroyed what caused them. He cared little about what the sick man had been eating, but much about what he had been thinking. He said in so many words, "It is not that which goeth into a man which defileth him." When he healed the sick he gave no parting directions about diet and rest, but on at least one occasion said, "Sin no more lest a worse thing come unto thee," thus indicating the mental origin of the disease. The sick were healed by him through spiritual understanding, not by human will. Christian Science, similarly relying wholly upon divine Principle, has no relationship with will power, mental science, hypnotism, mesmerism, auto-suggestion, thought transference, spiritualism or any of the other cults or schools which rely wholly or in part upon the influence of one human mind or human will upon another. These are es-entially adverse to the teachings of Christian Science, wherein the human mind and the human will are made wholly subordinate and subservient to the divine Mind, the will of God. Success in Christian Science is only attained as fallible human mentality is eliminated. This implies self-denial, the denial of the human sense of self, and the affirmation of all good, and is a condition to which all must come sooner or later. "As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess to God."

HEREAFTER.
In considering the immortality of man one is confronted by the questions, "What of the hereafter? How am I to regard the change called death? What and where is heaven?" Christian Science makes direct answer to these very natural questions. That which is called death, though always an enemy and finally to be overcome, as the Bible declares, is no more to be feared than is sleep. In the present state of our development both are incidental to the experience of mankind; both interfere for the time with man's activities; and the awakening—alike in both cases—will, we believe, show no substantial change in individuality or advancement. The gates of heaven do not swing open at the touch of death, but are to be entered by right thinking and right living, here and hereafter.

The work of regeneration and reformation left unfinished here will have to be done hereafter. The stirring command, "Work out your own salvation," follows us wherever we may be and through whatever changes we may pass. Death does not silence it nor modify its demands. Love of life, not fear of death, is in Christian Science the great incentive to action and achievement.

The isles of the blest of the ancients, the Elysian fields of Greek and Latin mythology, the seven heavens of Hebrew cabalism, the battle-plain of the belligerent Norsemen, the happy hunting grounds of the American Indian all express belief in a place of happiness after death portrayed in widely differing imagery. All of them, Pagan and Jew, Greek and barbarian, Norseman and Indian, Mohammedan, and Hindu, unite in maintaining that heaven stands for a far-off paradise, but that heaven is within our reach today and that we get little or much of it as we conform our lives, our thoughts and deeds, to God's eternal laws.

Christian Science puts aside the mythologic idea of heaven as a place, and shows it to be a state or condition of mind. It follows, therefore, that its attainment depends upon the mental processes of the individual. In other words it affirms that right thinking leading to right living is the sure passport to heaven. Turning to the life of the great exemplar, Jesus the Christ, we find in him the ideal thinker whose thoughts and actions conformed invariably to the laws of God—Spirit—touching lightly upon matter and things material only as tolerated concomitants of his dwelling on earth among men.

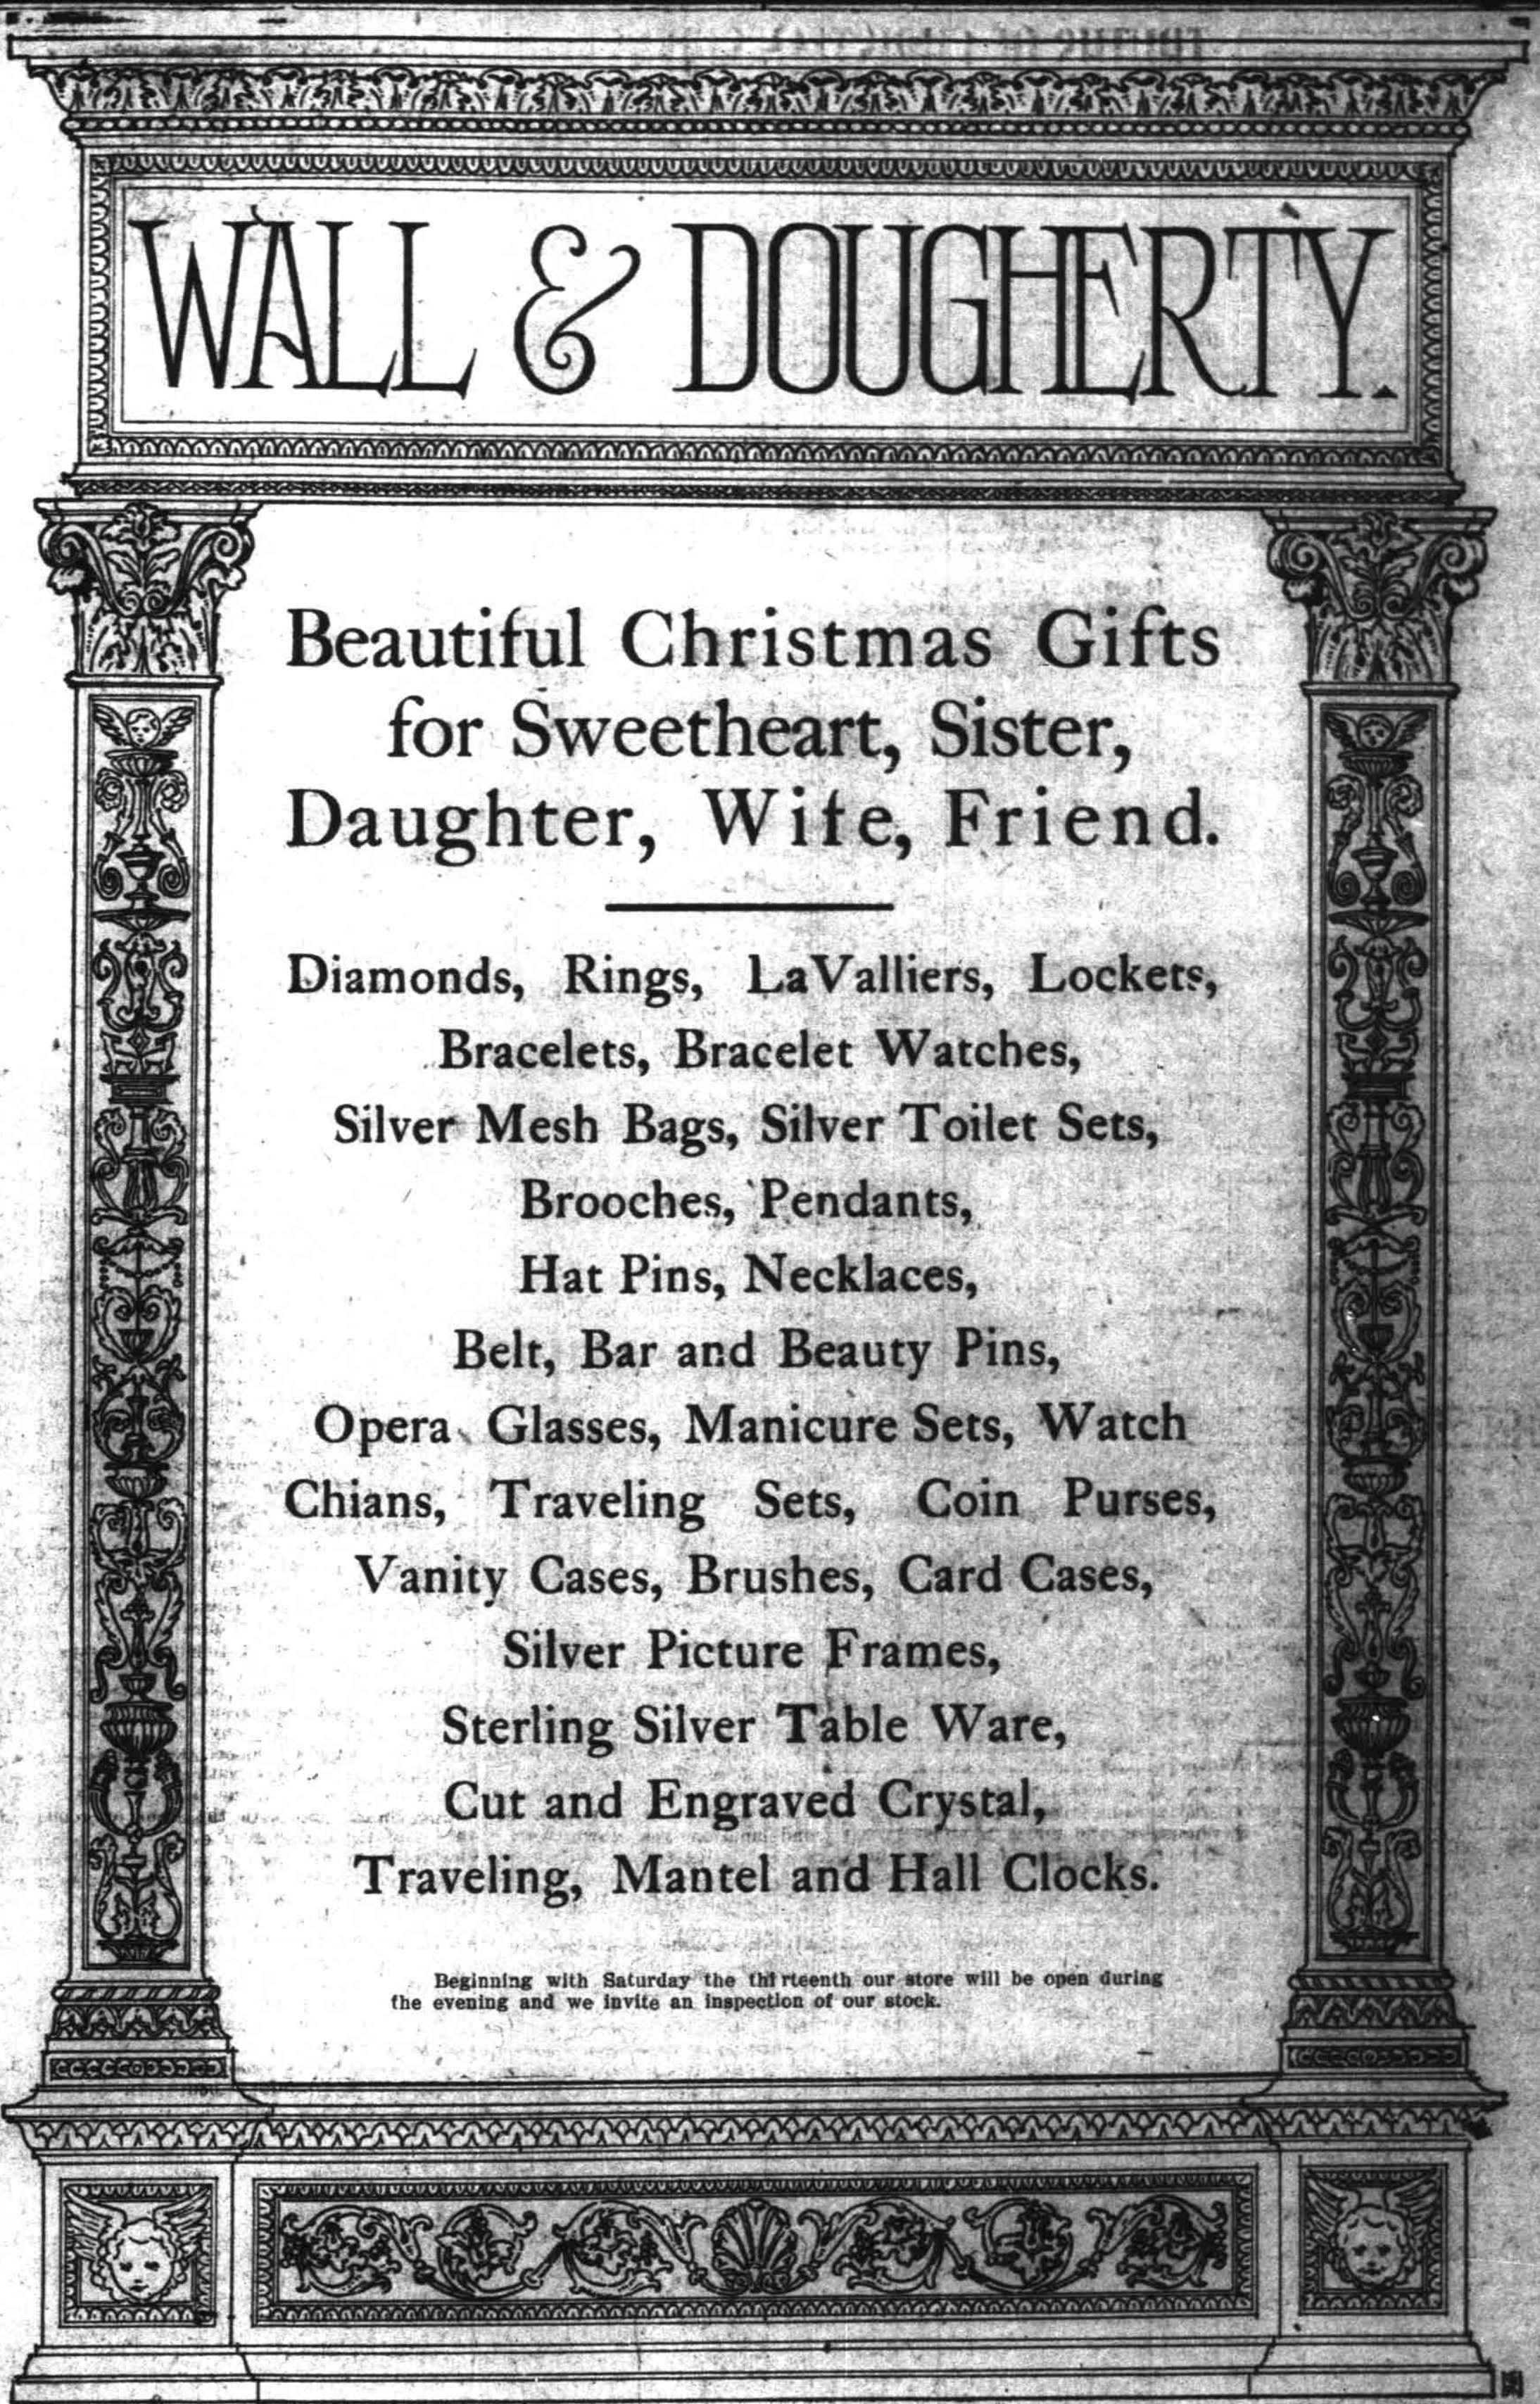

But his heavenward thoughts were not those of the inert mystic, or the cell-bound monk. They ripened quickly into action and touched his fellow men with the ardor of regeneration. His thoughts were about God, hence they brought lasting good to man. They were of heavenly law, and so brought order out of earthly chaos. They were of holiness, wholeness, and hence health attended his footsteps. No surer road to heaven can be found than the trail he blazed for us in the wilderness of human beliefs, for though narrow it is straight and there is shelter along the way. Most men have found they can get all they want of heaven's anthesis, hell, right here on earth, and there are many who believe they have already had more than their share of it, and perhaps they have. But they should know that it does not come from the hand of God. Sin brings its own punishment. It has been truly said that man is not punished for his sins, but by his sins. By sin is meant what Paul defines as transgression of the law, whether due to man's ignorance of God's law or to his willful disobedience of it. The child who, through ignorance or disobedience, picks up a piece of hot iron suffers because of his ignorance or disobedience. His loving father has had nothing to do with his suffering, and "Our Father which art in heaven," loving every one of His children, sends upon them neither pain nor penalty. state of mind may quicken the action of the heart, causing the blood to rush to the face or away from it; or if the state of mind can affect the organs of the throat causing hoarseness, then it is plain that the state of mind may be held accountable for other derangements of the organs of secretion, or circulation and of speech. And if of these, why not of other organs of the body? If changing grief into joy will stop the flow of tears, or in other words if a change of thought will change the flow of fluid to the eyes, why will not change of thought change the flow of fluids to the stomach? Is it not more rational then to treat dyspepsia with mind than with tablets and powders? And so it is with all other bodily diseases and derangements, they have one and all responded to the curative influence of Mind, administered in Christian Science.

Jesus proved for all time and for all Christendom that the origin of disease was mental and he healed it with mental medicine. He gave himself no concern about physical symptoms, but he destroyed what caused them. He cared little about what the sick man had been eating, but much about what he had been thinking. He said in so many words, "It is not that which goeth into a man which defileth him." When he healed the sick he gave no parting directions about diet and rest, but on at least one occasion said, "Sin no more lest a worse thing come unto thee," thus indicating the mental origin of the disease. The sick were healed by him through spiritual understanding, not by human will. Christian Science, similarly relying wholly upon divine Principle, has no relationship with will power, mental science, hypnotism, mesmerism, auto-suggestion, thought transference, spiritualism or any of the other cults or schools which rely wholly or in part upon the influence of one human mind or human will upon another. These are es-entially adverse to the teachings of Christian Science, wherein the human mind and the human will are made wholly subordinate and subservient to the divine Mind, the will of God. Success in Christian Science is only attained as fallible human mentality is eliminated. This implies self-denial, the denial of the human sense of self, and the affirmation of all good, and is a condition to which all must come sooner or later. "As I live, saith the Lord, every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess to God."

HEREAFTER.
In considering the immortality of man one is confronted by the questions, "What of the hereafter? How am I to regard the change called death? What and where is heaven?" Christian Science makes direct answer to these very natural questions. That which is called death, though always an enemy and finally to be overcome, as the Bible declares, is no more to be feared than is sleep. In the present state of our development both are incidental to the experience of mankind; both interfere for the time with man's activities; and the awakening—alike in both cases—will, we believe, show no substantial change in individuality or advancement. The gates of heaven do not swing open at the touch of death, but are to be entered by right thinking and right living, here and hereafter.

The work of regeneration and reformation left unfinished here will have to be done hereafter. The stirring command, "Work out your own salvation," follows us wherever we may be and through whatever changes we may pass. Death does not silence it nor modify its demands. Love of life, not fear of death, is in Christian Science the great incentive to action and achievement.

TRUTHS OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE EXPLAINED TO LARGE AUDIENCE

dling infant, the gallant captain cheering his men to greater valor, the gentle Saviour quieting his frightened disciples, all use it. That message is "Be not afraid."

Christian Science emphasizes the fact that when fear is eliminated from the consciousness of the sick man—no matter what the nature of his illness—he has taken a long step towards recovery. It declares also that people who are habitually free from fear, worry, anxiety, apprehension and the like, all of which are the children of fear, are far less susceptible to illness and misfortune than others. It has uncovered in fear an agency of evil, an enemy of health, a destroyer of peace and a bar to man's progress heavenward. It is not to be wondered, then, that the elimination of fear from human consciousness is an important feature of the mission of Christian Science.

Frequently it is said, "It is all well enough to say 'do not be afraid,' but how am I to get rid of fear and worry and anxiety? I use all the will-power and determination I can command, yet I do not get rid of worry. It comes in about as fast as I drive it out." Attempting to get the mastery of fear and worry by will-power alone is like trying to heat back the ocean with a baseball bat, or trying to chase clouds away with a broom. You can not get rid of them by fighting them, but you can readily get out of their reach by rising higher. The waves of fear and the mists of worry do not extend upwards and if you will but climb to the hilltop of selflessness where Love stands waiting to welcome you with outstretched hands, you will no longer be buffeted by fear or befogged by worry. For centuries St. John has been telling this to the world in these words, "Perfect love casteth out fear."

In that perfect love may fear-tormented man find a panacea that is free as the air, as animating as the sunrise and as dependable as the tides of the sea. Perhaps the nearest similitude to perfect love is an unspiced child, and when you find such a jewel you may note such an absence of fear in the little one that is both a delight and rebuke to those of us "grown-ups" who have so much to unlearn before we can "become as little children." Our human sense of love, fine though it be, must be broadened, purified, unselfed, and just in proportion as this is done it is to be relied upon as the complete antidote of fear. As fear, then, is seen to be the cause of so many of the afflictions of mortals, so love is to be known as their remedy. If we would have less of worry, anxiety, apprehension and the ills they invite, we must be more loving; that is to say, the more of God, perfect Love, we bring into consciousness and make manifest in our daily lives, the less of fear can enter. Love for God and man is the one indispensable element of all true and lasting success. The world of today is slow to rise to the appreciation of this great truth. The world of commerce, of industry, of the professions is still constructing its various undertakings out of the raw materials of energy, determination, skill and enterprise; each of which is measurably useful in its particular channel, but all are lacking in the one essential needed to make them enduring and truly beneficent. That one thing needed is love for God and man.

Did you ever consider how our great cities are made up of buildings, large and small, each constructed by laying one brick on top of another until their walls tower upward and the streets stretch out for miles? And did you ever consider how all this is possible only through the universal use of that commonplace and homely material known as mortar? How these miles of walls would totter and crash to the ground if the countless millions of pieces which compose them were not cemented together by the mortar that binds every brick and stone? So it is with our thoughts, our actions, our endeavors. They are bricks and stones out of which our lives are constructed. However well shaped, however carefully laid they may be, unless they are bound above and below with the cement of love for God and man, they may in time tumble into a tangled mass of mediocrity like mortars and bricks. But when laid with the cement of love into the structure of our lives, they will protect and shelter and beautify the affairs of all who enter them.

DISCOURAGEMENT.

Christian Science brings the Truth to human comprehension, gives freedom from whatever enslaves and thus bestows mental, moral and physical liberty. In the process of liberation it sifts out certain pernicious practices and propensities, generally regarded as harmless, but which are to be shunned as allies of evil. It shows us that we have indulged in moods and inclinations that we believed were guiltless, if not commendable, but were in reality neither wise nor harmless. We find we have been warming in the incubator of our favor the eggs of serpents that we believed belonged to doves. Perhaps the most common of disease-inviting habits of thought is all been on intimate terms with it one time or another, and while we have never found it cheerful company, we have not looked upon it as a sinister visitor. Yet that is just what Christian Science shows it to be.

Discouragement wears the invisible livery of evil and is constantly and consistently working for its master. It is always pulling down and never building up. Did you ever know any one to accomplish anything worth while when in the grip of discouragement? It paralyzes effort, stupefies thought and dissipates purpose. There is a ridiculous side also to the condition of the man who is mentally sick abed with a bad case of discouragement. He is only happy when he is miserable; the worse he feels the better he likes it; the things that please him most are the things that do not please him at all. He is continually stumbling into the two extremes of self-justification and self-condemnation. Both are bad; both are modeled after plans drawn in the devil's workshop; both are obstructive to progress. Self-justification digs a hole; self-condemnation sets up a pole, and no man can go very far in any right direction when he is either crouched in the bottom of a hole or perched on the top of a pole. Man is endowed with nobler qualities than those of the beasts of the field or the fowls of the air, and he must come out of the hole of self-condemnation and down from the pole of self-justification on to the level ground of unselfed endeavor if he would progress in Christian Science.

More than all of this Christian Science discloses that the man habitually discouraged is not only an inviting target for disease, but is already striped with the colors of unbelief, for he gloomily distrusts the power and goodness of God himself. This may startle some of you who are accustomed to let yourselves be robbed of your courage—discouraged—and to slide unresistingly into the bilious depths of the "blues" when things go wrong. The Christian world is full of God-fearing and truth-loving people who yield readily to discouragement because they have not yet discovered where it comes from and what is back of it. They do not see that it is but the advance agent of evil itself. A familiar fable of folklore will perhaps illustrate this point. It was once announced that the devil was going out of business and would offer all his tools for sale to whoever would pay his price. On the night of the sale they were all attractively displayed, and a bad looking lot they were. Malice, envy, hatred, jealousy, sensuality, deceit and all the other implements of evil were spread out, each marked with its price. Apart from the rest lay a harmless looking wedge-shaped tool, much worn and priced higher than any of them. Some one asked the devil what it was. "That's discouragement," was the reply. "Well why do you have it priced so high?" "Because," replied the devil, "it is more useful to me than any of the others. I can pry open and get inside a man's consciousness with that when I couldn't get near him with any of the others, and when once inside I can use him in whatever way suits me best. It is so much worn because I use it with nearly everybody, as very few people yet know that it belongs to me." It hardly need be added that the devil's price for discouragement was so high that it was never sold. He still owns it and he is still using it.

Discouragement is a stranger to it, unselfishness. No man who faithfully trusts in the omnipotence of God and the omnipresence of Love can afford to allow discouragement to argue with him for one minute. The Christian Scientist in his unceasing warfare against evil in every form allows discouragement no more foothold in his consciousness than he does to malice, hatred, envy or deceit. He is freed from the bondage of all of them by knowing the truth about God and man. An effective plan to drive out discouragement is to bring into thought some measure of gratitude or praise. There can always be found something to be grateful for if we will hunt for it honestly and earnestly. The good old-fashioned practise of counting our blessings—the things we have we would not like to do without, generally brings gratitude to the surface for along every man's pathway in life there are blooming the sweet flowers of gratitude and if he will but stoop and pull one and wear it he will find its fragrance a magic dispeller of discouragement. Or if the day be cold and dreary and the flowers covered with snow, he can find that warmth of soul which always banishes discouragement, if he will but heed that part of a favorite passage of Jesus from Isaiah, where we are commanded to put on "the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

It never fails. I have thus far spoken more of the results of Christian Science than of its methods. For the latter I would have you consult the pages of its text-book "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. You will not lay it down with disappointment if you take it up with sincerity.

But that you may carry away with you tonight some elementary precept to test for yourselves, I would place before you this simple fact: The Christian Science method of getting rid of things that are wrong, is to introduce things that are right. This is not fighting evil but destroying it. It has been proved in millions of instances that a wrong thought which is the father of a wrong action will invariably vanish into nothingness if you will but introduce a right thought in its place. Good destroys evil as surely and as quickly as light destroys darkness. Remember that for you will find it helpful if you are ever disposed to try Christian Science for yourselves. If you will associate in your thoughts good with light and evil with darkness you will have before you a flashlight glimpse of the impotence of evil in the presence of the good. Not all the darkness in the universe can extinguish the light of one tiny lamp. Wherever it goes it chases away darkness, which is always without power to move, or even to be in the presence of light. So with the light of good and the darkness of evil.

The comparison is a good one, but it is not mine. You will find it many times in the pages of your Bible. Remember, then, if you will, that the Christian Science method of banishing evil—darkness—is to bring in the light—good. If you were to try it for a single day you would be surprised to find what a new sort of day you would be giving to yourselves. Every time you find yourself thinking unkindly about your neighbor, bring in a good thought about him. It will help him and it will help you.

Every time your thought drops to the level of the beast, lift it as near the stars as you can raise it. If thoughts unclean, unjust, malicious or obstructive are there, bring in something of purity, of justice, of helpfulness, of love. When you have done your best in this line of noble endeavor, you have accomplished much. You have taken a step, a little one to be sure, but it leads in the direction of the understanding of God—the knowledge of Him, whom to know aright is life eternal.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

When cross, constipated or if feverish give "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry

Mothers can rest, after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish, and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleanser" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages, and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—advertisement.

NO CHINESE FLAG ON DOLLAR LINE

The story which appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle, that the Dollar line of steamships would fly the Chinese flag and take on Chinese crews, is emphatically denied by the Dollar line representatives in Shanghai.

It was stated that the company would greatly increase its fleet and put the ships all under the Chinese flag, under contracts which, in case of war, would place them at the disposal of the Chinese government.

The reason put forward was that Japanese ships were rapidly driving those of other nations out of the Pacific trade because they carry freight cheaper. The American standard for sea-going ships is appreciated for the comfort it ensures, but it is said to be prohibitive of real competition with the Japanese.

The story went on to say that the change would involve the discharge of the American sailors employed by the Dollar Company, and the substitution of Chinese.

"In the first place," said the head of the Shanghai branch, "we have always employed Chinese crews on the vessels that run east—in that there is nothing new, but it was wrong to state that the fleet would be increased and that Chinese would take the place of American sailors. The company is bound to observe the laws of the United States so far as coasting trading is concerned, and the company would not be allowed to employ Chinese sailors for that work, but there is nothing to hinder them being used on trans-Pacific work. We contemplate no change, and it is not likely that any will be made. It is true that when the Manchus were in power the company was in close negotiations with the government on the question, but since the republic was established those negotiations have not been resumed. As to the ships being run under the Chinese flag, that is ridiculous; no change will be made in that respect and the work will go on as hitherto. You can give a flat contradiction to all such statements."
