I - LIFE AND ACTIVITY IN PROVENCE

I.1 - Administrative procedures

Formalities differ depending on the employee's nationality and their status as seconded or transferred employees.

I.1.1. European Union employees and citizens of the new member states of the European Union

Citizens of the European Union, the European Economic Area and Switzerland are free to travel and work in France with no need for a visa, residence card, work permit or business permit.

During a transitional period, lasting up to seven years, citizens of the future Member States of the EU must obtain a permit to stay in France more than three months.

An EU residence card good for up to one year is automatically issued upon presentation of an employer's declaration certifying the term of employment.

Residence cards for stays of more than 12 months are valid for 10 years. Applications for 10-year cards should be filed with the prefecture or municipality of the place of residence within three months of employee's arrival. There is no charge for this procedure.

I.1.2. Non-EU employees

Non-EU employees transferred to France must obtain a long-stay visa, a work permit (« introductory contract ») and a residence card marked « employee ».

Streamlined procedure for issuing work permits and residence cards for senior executives

Under a special procedure coordinated by ANAEM, the national agency for immigration, chief executives and senior executives can obtain visas, residence cards and work permits in just three weeks.

This accelerated procedure is available for executives hired by French companies that are at least 20 % owned by an international group, as long as the executive concerned has worked for the group for more than one year.

The French employer files a transfer application with the relevant ANAEM regional representative for the host establishment's location.

The application is processed by the Directorate for labor and vocational training for the département (DDTEFP) within 10 days. The executive must apply for a long-stay visa and a residence card from the relevant French consulate.

Once the consulate is notified of the DDTEFP's approval, the executive can pick up the visa and enter France. The ANAEM will issue the work permit and residence card after a medical examination.

Procedure for other executives

The DDTEFP will issue work permits for junior executives, if job market conditions permit.

The host company must file a request for the work permit with the relevant national employment agency, which advertises the vacancy for 15 days. If the vacancy is not filled, the local labor inspectorate then has three months to make its decision known. If it approves the work permit, the French consulate in the junior executive's country can issue a long-stay visa. After a medical examination at the ANAEM, the executive can pick up the residence card marked "employee" from the prefecture for his place of residence.

Accelerated procedure for seconded employees

Seconded employees who are not UE citizens must obtain a temporary work permit (APT), which is good for up to nine months and can be renewed.

At the same time as the employee applies to the consulate for a long-stay visa, the French host company should file an application for a temporary work permit with the DDTEFP with jurisdiction over the foreign employee's place of work. After approving the application, the DDTEFP passes it on to the ANAEM, which notifies the consulate. Upon arrival in France, the employee needs to pass a medical examination at the ANAEM, after which he can pick up his temporary work permit and residence card. The holder of a temporary work permit is not allowed to change employers in France.

→ Useful recommendations

When you arrive in France, contact the Prefecture or sub-prefecture in your district, the Town Hall on which you depend or the police station nearest to your home.

Furthermore, if you need to have official documents translated, you can contact official translators : the Aix-en-Provence Court of Appeal issues a list of translators.

1.2 - Diplomatic offices, consulates and foreign cultural institutes

Every expatriate will eventually have a professional or personal need to get in touch with his own countrymen.

The Bouches-du-Rhône department is a cosmopolitan and welcoming department in which there are almost 62 diplomatic offices and 7 foreign or Franco-foreign chambers of commerce (see our address book) :

- Franco-Armenian Chamber of Commerce and Industry,
- Franco-British Chamber of Commerce and Industry,
- Franco-Lebanese Chamber of Commerce,
- Franco-Turkish Chamber of Commerce,
- Italian Chamber of Commerce,
- Swiss Chamber of Commerce.

Note also the presence of two economic organizations, namely the Provence Franco-German Business Club and the GISEP (Groupement des Intérêts Scandinaves en Provence – Scandinavian Interests in Provence Group).

The Provence Franco-German Business Club is the regional office of the Paris Franco-German Chamber of Commerce and Industry. This organization encourages and promotes business relations between Germany and the South of France, and more generally between Northern Europe and the Mediterranean basin.

The GISEP (Groupement des Intérêts Scandinaves en Provence - Scandinavian Interests in Provence Group) is an Association according to the 1901 law to which all managers of companies or organizations working in Provence and with links with Scandinavian Companies belong. The purpose of the GISEP is to encourage the development of economical, social, cultural, artistic and scientific relations between France, Sweden, Denmark and Norway.

Moreover, a large number of foreign Associations and cultural institutes are set up in Provence, including the British American Institute, the Maison de Tübingen, the Noria (Franco-Spanish Cultural association), the Dante Alighieri Association, the Franco-Swedish Friendships Association, etc.

These organizations share a will to make the language and culture of their countries better known (particularly through language courses) and to be places of dialogue and exchange. Everything the "home sick" expatriate needs.

See our address book.

1.3 - Accomodation

The real estate market in the Bouches-du-Rhône <sup>1</sup>

In the Bouches-du-Rhône, real estate prices skyrocketed at the beginning of the new millennium. However, the euphoria of recent years is now a thing of the past. We are not experiencing so much as a drop in prices but rather a slower movement of price increases, and market stability.

Although the real estate market has sometimes been subject to wild spikes in certain sectors – for both purchases and rental properties – we can nevertheless argue a catch-up effect for the city of Marseilles.

In fact, the Marseilles real estate market has been atypical for several years, and the city has now closed the gap which separated it from other major French metropolitan areas.

We might even say that urban development over the last several years in Marseilles, as well as Aix-en-Provence, is responsible for the upward spiral we experienced.

It is difficult to establish a cause-and-effect relationship, but it is certain that in these stimulating circumstances, several real estate deals were made.

The development process has resulted in the creation of housing : whether it's by refurbishing older apartment buildings through the Marseilles Republic program within the Euroméditerranée urban renewal project (Marseilles 2nd district), or the building new housing near the Capelette ZAC (Marseilles 10th District) or the Sainte Marthe ZAC (Marseilles 14th District).

In Aix-en-Provence, the Sextius Mirabeau enterprise, which is reaching completion, has had great success and has infused the market with new housing for both residents and investors.

Communauté Urbaine Marseille Provence Métropole / AGAM (Agence d'Urbanisme de l'Agglomération de Marseille) – Local Housing Programme 2006-2011

Communauté du Pays d'Aix (statistics 2006)

In addition to the two larger urban clusters in the Aix-Marseilles metropolitan area, Salon de Provence managed to do well with a rather large selection of several hundred lodgings. The site is attractive: numerous access roads, protected environment, reasonable prices compared to those in neighboring Aix or Marseilles, and a considerable amount of land available.

However, despite how well the new real estate market is doing, it is still inadequate to meet the demand, particularly in the communities to the east of Marseilles (Aubagne, Cassis, Gémenos, La Ciotat). In this sector, the market remains particularly tight and there are no large-scale building or renovation operations of real estate.

For some 10 years, the Department has experienced a genuine transformation with the arrival of new inhabitants, the establishment of new companies and headquarters, and the development of recreational tourism.

In light of this demographic growth, the Local Housing Program 2006-2011 of the Marseilles Provence Metropolitan Urban Community adopted the goal of building 36,000 lodgings over the term of the Local Housing Plan, distributed as follows :

- Western urban area (Carry-le-Rouet, Ensues-La-Redonne, Châteauneuf-les-Martigues, Gignac-la-Nerthe, Marignane, Le Rove, Saint-Victoret, Sausset-les-Pins) : 500 lodgings per year, including 100 subsidized housing units ;
- Central urban area (Allauch, Marseilles, Plan-de-Cuques, Septèmes-les-Vallons) : 5,000 lodgings per year, including 1,000 subsidized housing units ;
- Eastern urban area (Cassis, Carnoux-en-Provence, Ceyreste, La Ciotat, Gémenos, Roquefort-La-Bédoule) : 500 lodgings per year, including 100 subsidized housing units.

In the Pays d'Aix Community, several programs for subsidized rental housing are to be completed between 2007 and 2010 :

- Aix-en-Provence : 399 housing units, including 81 in La Duranne,
- Bouc-Bel-Air : 188 housing units,
- Coudoux : 27 housing units,
- Eguilles : 25 housing units,
- Les Pennes Mirabeau : 113 housing units,
- Calas : 96 housing units

Additionally, the PLH (Local Housing Plan) has set an annual building goal of 2100 housing units per year (ownership, rental, private, public).

This is a major undertaking because housing needs for all social classes are being met by strengthening real estate diversity through the establishment of new programs and revamping of existing housing stock.

→ Practical advice

The daily newspapers devote one or more pages every day to real estate ads and professionals in the sector, members of the Fédération Nationale des Agents Immobiliers (FNAIM - National Federation of Real Estate Agents), and can help those newly arrived to Provence in their search for housing.

Additionally, there are many websites that publish price comparisons and trend analyses for each city free of charge, which may prove useful when searching for housing. (See our address book)

I.4. Health

Social Security in France

The Social Security system was created in 1945 and it is controlled nationally by the Ministry of Employment and Solidarity. Regionally, it reports to the Regional Directorates of Sanitation and Social Affairs (DRASS).

The French health care system was built on principles of liberalism, universality and solidarity. Thus, all residents are covered through social financing, an insured person can see any practitioner he chooses and medical costs will be reimbursed to him according to predefined schedules. It is recommended that a private insurance should also be taken out to supplement reimbursements made by the social security system.

The general system that covers about 80% of the population is organized in four branches:

- The illness, maternity, invalidity and death branch,
- The occupational accidents and diseases branch,
- The old age and widowhood branch,
- The family branch.

Foreigners who would like further information about social protection in France can contact the CLEISS (Centre des Liaisons Européennes et Internationales de Sécurité Sociale – Center of European and International Social Security Relations). This organization can have correspondence or legal, medical or administrative documents necessary for treatment of their files translated into French, if necessary at the request of the social security centers. (See our address book).

Please contact the Health Insurance Center closest to your home to register with social security for the first time.

Health in the Bouches-du-Rhône department

The Bouches-du-Rhône department has excellent medical facilities. This is reflected in investments made by the AP-HM (Assistance Publique – Hôpitaux de Marseille / Marseilles Hospitals Public – Assistance) for the year 2003 : 20 million euros were set aside for the acquisition of high technology equipment, including a PET TDM Scan (positon emission tomograph combined with a tomodensitometer) – the third of this type installed in France. The General Council actively provides subsidies for hospitals and monitors that the equipment is continuously kept up to date.

The accommodation capacity of hospitals is high, with a potential of 15 558 hospital beds<sup>2</sup> on 01/01/2005 in the public and private sectors combined (see our address book for a list of the main public hospitals and clinics in the department).

Moreover, all medical and paramedical specialties are broadly represented. Thus, on 01/01/2005, there were<sup>3</sup>:

- 3 985 general practitioners
- 4 803 specialist doctors
- 2 649 pharmacists
- 1 721 dentists
- 2 889 masseurs-physiotherapists
- 18 476 nurses
- 622 midwives
- 830 speech-language pathologists
- 163 orthoptists

The Bouches-du-Rhône is truly privileged for its number of physicians per capita: 148 general practitioners per 100,000 inhabitants as of 01/01/2005 in the Department compared to 112 per 100,000 inhabitants in France<sup>4</sup>. The number of specialist physicians in the Bouches-du-Rhône related to population (149 per 100,000 inhabitants) is also quite clearly above the French average (87 per 100,000 inhabitants).

1.5. The Provence Promotion Relocation Department

In order to facilitate the move to Provence by families of transferred or expatriate employees, Provence Promotion has established a Relocation Department.

Provence Promotion would like to work in conjunction with companies looking to set up in the Bouches-du-Rhône, and act as the “coordinating unit” between employees, their families, and its partners in order to :

- acquaint them with life in Provence (the economy, practical, geographic, and cultural information, etc.),
- determine their needs (search for temporary housing or lodging, registration of children in day care, primary school, middle school, or university, job search assistance for spouses, etc.),
- connect each person with the appropriate contact (agencies, relocation companies, recruitment firms, associations, child welfare offices, economic and/or cultural groups, etc.).

Through its Relocation Department, the Provence Promotion Association works with relocation companies specialized in advising and assisting people with geographic relocation and offering personalized services for new arrivals in the Bouches-du-Rhône, which includes:

- Welcome : Welcome at the airport, real estate and geographic assistance, tourism, etc.
- Assistance with accommodation : from selecting a home to signing the lease or signing the promise of sale, including accompanied visits.
- Assistance with real estate expertise and sale or rental of the old residence.
- Assistance with settling in : Attendance at an inventory, subscription of contracts (telephone, insurance, water, gas, etc.), monitoring of the works if necessary, etc.
- Administrative assistance : for obtaining a resident's and work permit, opening a bank account, validation of a foreign driving license, etc.)
- Assistance with looking for a job for the spouse.
- Help with adaptation in general, looking for schools, leisure clubs, associations, etc.
- Assistance in leaving : cancellation of leases, inventories.

Moreover, the A.V.F. (Accueil des Villes Françaises – French Towns Welcome Committees) Network has several reception offices in the Bouches-du-Rhône, where newcomers can obtain practical information, advice, useful addresses, etc.

Finally, to simplify the life of newcomers to Provence, the Marseille Accueil Association provides information about the town's resources (housing, schools, sports associations, etc.) and organizes many activities throughout the year.

With just a few clicks on the Peuplade network, Internet surfers can join sport or cultural leisure activities, meet up for brunch or drinks, or trade services or help....in short, Peuplade helps create social ties.

Last but not least, “Cities Marseille Provence Métropole” and “Cities Marseille” are two Internet gateways offering solutions for day-to-day concerns, and supplying valid addresses for recreation.

For more information about companies, associations, and/or websites which can make your life easier, see our address book.

2. SCHOOLING IN PROVENCE : FROM THE DAY CARE CENTER TO UNIVERSITY

2.1. French education system

Education in France is controlled by the Government. Within the government, the Ministry of National Education, Research and Technology is responsible for the education policy.

The State defines education programs, recruits and trains personnel, creates and fills teaching jobs and administration jobs, defines the status and operating rules for schools, and fixes the dates of school holidays in each of the three zones in mainland France.

Local authorities also have a number of powers and responsibilities :

- Regions managed by an elected Regional Council are responsible for construction and maintenance of high schools (higher secondary education),
- Departments, represented by an elected assembly – the General Council – have the same authority for colleges (lower secondary education),
- Communes (towns) manage primary schools (nursery school and primary school).

In higher education, Universities have an administrative, financial, pedagogic and scientific independence.

Education is the leading national priority and the basic principles for education are that it is free and secular.

Schooling is free and compulsory from 6 to 16 years and public schools, which provide schooling for 80% of all pupils, are secular, in other words they do not teach any religion.

There is also a private education system that guarantees freedom of education, mostly consisting of catholic schools that have entered into a contract with the State (controlled by the State and that are obliged to respect timetables and programs applicable in the public sector).

Families using private schooling must pay school fees that are variable depending on the school. About 17% of all pupils are in this sector (from nursery school to the Terminal class (the last year at high school)).

2.2. From the day care center to high school

There are several different types of day care for children around schooling age. Despite a decrease in the number of day care places in the department, the number remains high and greater than the national level (149 per 1000 for Bouches-du-Rhône compared to only 106 per 1000 for France as a whole).

Thus, the total number of places in the department on 01/01/2005<sup>5</sup> was :

- 2 957 places in collective day care centers,
- 1 268 places in stop-over centers,
- 795 places in stop over centers and pre-school centers,
- 3 109 children in family day care centers.

Several day-care centers have just recently opened their doors :

- In Aix-en-Provence : An association-based daycare center with 35 places in Celony ;
- In Marseilles : In the Canet Urban Zone (14th District) an inter-company day care center with capacity for 40 places ;
- In Saint-Martin-de-Crau : An association-based day care center with 40 places and a day nursery with 20 places and the possibility for expansion ;
- In La Ciotat : Flexible attendance childcare center with 72 places in the Athélia IV industrial zone in La Ciotat ;
- An Inter-company day care center with 40 places in the Saumaty-Séon Urban Zone (Marseilles 16th district) ;
- An Inter-company day care center in La Joliette (Marseilles second district).

Other receiving units are being built:

- Daycare unit with 60 places in La Duranne (Aix-en-Provence).
- Flexible attendance childcare center with 60 places in Allauch.

The Department is also well equipped with educational institutions, from preschool through entry into University. Formal education programs have grown in recent years to respond the shifts in population and its requirements.

The Bouches-du-Rhône has <sup>6</sup> :

- 573 nursery schools,
- 710 primary schools and specialized schools,
- 187 secondary schools,
- 83 professional high schools,
- 92 general high schools.

→ Practical advice

For all information concerning pre-school child care, please contact the Young Children office of your town council. Some communities have made a list available on their Internet sites of municipal collective day care centers and other care giving establishments for small children (day nurseries, outdoor play areas, etc.).

For more information on preschools and primary schools, please contact your city council. To obtain a list of secondary education institutions, contact the Rector of the Academy of Aix-Marseilles. (See our address book).

2.4. International education - from kindergarten to university

In the Bouches-du-Rhône department, there are several institutions which offer “International sections” that can welcome students from other countries and facilitate their integration into the French educational system.

Part of the curriculum is given in a foreign language, and non-Francophone children can learn French by following FSL (French as a Second Language) courses.

In secondary education, institutions with international sections allow the simultaneous earning of two diplomas, one in French – the Baccalauréat – and the other one from a different country (the German Abitur for example).

Nursery and primary schools

- The EPIM (Ecole Privée Internationale de Marseille – Marseilles International Private School): Secular private school with no contract with the State. The EPIM teaches children from 3 to 6 years old and offers bilingual French/English courses. This school leads to Primary Years Program international Baccalauréat (recognized by UNESCO).

- The CIPEC (Centre International Privé pour l'Éducation & la Culture – Private International Center for Education and Culture) in Luynes: The CIPEC is located in the Aix countryside and is a private school offering international education from nursery school level to the end of the primary school (Grade 5). The basic concept of education at this school is based on French/English bilingualism. Non-English speaking foreign students can be taught in their maternal language (German, Spanish, Italian) starting from Grade 2, taught by native teachers from their country of origin. Students can write the French diplomas (technician's diploma and baccalauréat) or follow the programs for British and American examinations.

- Euro Pi Pole in Aix-en-Provence and in Cabriès : Secular private school with no contract with the state, Euro Pi Pole offers bilingual French / English and French / German education for kindergarten and primary school.

Secondary and high schools

- Collège Mignet in Aix-en-Provence: Offers an international section (bilingual English/French) from the 6th to the 3rd classes (Grade 6 and 9). These classes are reserved for children that are perfectly bilingual, with English as their mother tongue. Admissions tests are held in May (for families resident in France) or in September (for newcomers).

- IBS (International Bilingual School of Provence) in Luynes: French/English bilingual education from the 6th class (Grade 6) to Terminal (Grade 12). Students can take their school certificate (Grade 9) and their French Baccalauréat (Grade 12) or can choose to prepare British or American examinations. This school is certified as an examination center by the University of Cambridge and the IB World School.

- Marseilleveyre high school in Marseilles: This State high school offers international classes with Italian or Spanish as options. The education offered in this school leads to a Baccalaureat with the "International" option.
- Val Saint André International private bilingual secondary school in Aix-en-Provence: Offers English bilingual sections and enables students to prepare for their school certificate (Grade 9) or the Baccalaureat and Cambridge examinations at the same time (First Certificate in English and Certificate of Proficiency in English).
- Georges Duby high school in Aix-en-Provence: This public high school benefits from an English "International section" (label awarded by the National Ministry of Education). The education provided also leads to simultaneous issuing of French and German baccalaureats (Abitur).
- The International School in Manosque: Located near the Iter site, this public school will open its doors in September 2009 and can house up to 1400 students, from small children through high school. The institution will be open to students whose parents work for the Iter project but also for children in the surrounding area. Bilingual education will be provided in Chinese, English, French, German, Hindi, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, Spanish. When students finish secondary school, they may write the IOB (International Option of the Baccalaureate) or the AbiBac (examination which allows for the simultaneous earning of the French baccalaureate and its German equivalent the Abitur).

Furthermore, as dictated by Europe and internationalization, a growing number of schools offer introductory courses in English (for the lower grades), multilingual activities, and even European classes:

Nursery and primary schools

- Saint-Etienne private school in Arles: Offers multilingual activities (Provençal, English, Spanish and Italian) starting from nursery school, and learning English starting from primary school (grade 1).
- The Chevreur Blancarde primary, secondary, and high school in Marseilles: Private school with a partnership contract with the State. Offers beginner's English starting from CMI (Grade 4).
- Nouvelle Alliance Private Protestant school in Aix-en-Provence: Introduces children to the nursery school and primary school. Offers bilingual French/English education.
- Sainte Catherine de Sienne primary, secondary and high school in Aix-en-Provence: Offers a beginner's workshop in English starting from nursery school plus one hour's course per week with an English-speaking teacher at the primary school.

Secondary and high schools

- California State University in Aix-en-Provence: Institute reserved for supervision of students from the universities of the State of California during their studies in Aix-en-Provence.
- E.P.S.S.A. (Ecole Populaire Supérieure Suédoise d'Aix –Aix Swedish Advanced Popular school): Scandinavian Private school. ## 3- TRANSPORTS IN PROVENCE

3.1. Transport infrastructures in Provence

Provence is ideally located at the heart of the Mediterranean Arc, and enjoys a genuine multimode transport system including :

- Facilities and services at the port of Marseilles-Fos, the 1st French port on the Mediterranean, and the 4th largest port in Europe,
- A particularly dense and free-flowing motorway service, directly connected to the entire European motorway network,
- A high performance airport platform at Marseilles-Provence International Airport, the 4th busiest passenger airport in France,
- A river connection to European standards between the Gulf of Fos, the river port of Arles and as far as Châlon-sur-Saône.

Managers and executives can travel around easily particularly because :

- The Marseilles-Provence Airport offers daily air connections to the primary European capitals and a shuttle service to Paris (164 flights per week). The Marseilles-Provence Airport recently opened a terminal dedicated to low-cost carriers : the MP2.
- By TGV, the Mediterranean line places Paris within 2 hours and 56 minutes of Aix-en-Provence and 3 hours from Marseilles.

3.2. Public transports in Marseilles

Every day, the Marseilles bus, subway and tramway services carry more than 400 000 passengers. Due to a particularly dense public transport network, 95 % of Marseilles inhabitants are less than 300 meters from a bus stop or a metro station.

This high population density is reflected in the presence of :

- 79 bus lines serving the 240 km<sup>2</sup> area of the city of Marseilles as well as the 120 km<sup>2</sup> of the four surrounding communities: Allauch, Aubagne, Plan-de-Cuques, and La Penne sur Huveaune. The entire network includes 1163 bus stops. The bus network operates every day from 5:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. for the day service and from 9:00 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. for the night service (Fluobus).
- 2 metro lines. The metro is open from 5:00 a.m. to 11:00 p.m. weekdays and until 1:00 a.m. on Fridays, Saturdays, Sundays, and special evenings. Modern, with original décor in each of its stations, the Marseilles metro is safe and pleasant.
- 2 tramway lines, operational since June 2007. The tramway operates every day from 5:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. With an exclusive and innovative design, the new tramway can transport up to 55,000 riders per day.

There is a single tariff for the entire network, regardless of the day, time or distance to be travelled. The same ticket can be used indifferently to travel by bus, subway or tramway and after a transfer.

Network maps, line timetables and information about subscriptions and tariffs in force are available to users at the RTM (Régie des Transports de Marseille – Marseilles Transport Authority) info desk.

(See network map on the following page and the complete name and address of the RTM in our address book).

3.3. Public transports in Aix-en-Provence

The « Aix by Bus » network serves the town center and the peripheral areas of Les Milles, Luynes, Puyriscard and Le Tholonet. Buses run from 6:30 am to 10:30 pm during the week. A reduced service is provided on Sunday.

In addition to the regular lines, the Town has set up dedicated school bus lines and a transport on request service.

The Aix-en-Provence public transport system carries 8 million passengers every week.

Network maps and lines timetables are available to users from the Office du Tourisme.

3.4. Inter-urban transports

Inter-urban transports by coach :

The main communes in the department are connected to each other by the Carreize departmental network that includes 100 coach lines. Several network lines continue outside the department to the large towns in the region (Avignon, Toulon, Digne, Gap, Nice, Nîmes...). They are integrated in an L.E.R. (Lignes Express Régionales – Regional Express Lines) regional network.

Moreover, there are other coach companies serving the cities in the Department :

- Autobus Aubagnais, serving 11 communities around Aubagne,
- Bus de l'Etang, serving eight communities to the east of Etang de Berre,
- Bus du Soleil, serving four communities to the west of Etang de Berre,
- Interbus, which serves the three communities in the mining area of Gardanne,
- Ciotabus, which serves La Ciotat and Ceyreste,
- Bus de la Marcouline and Bus de la Côte Bleue, which serve the communities of the urban Marseilles Provence Metropolitan area.

The PACA T.E.R. (Transport Express Regional – Regional Express Transport) :

Most communes located on the railway lines are provided with a train service as part of the Regional Express Transport (T.E.R.) network.

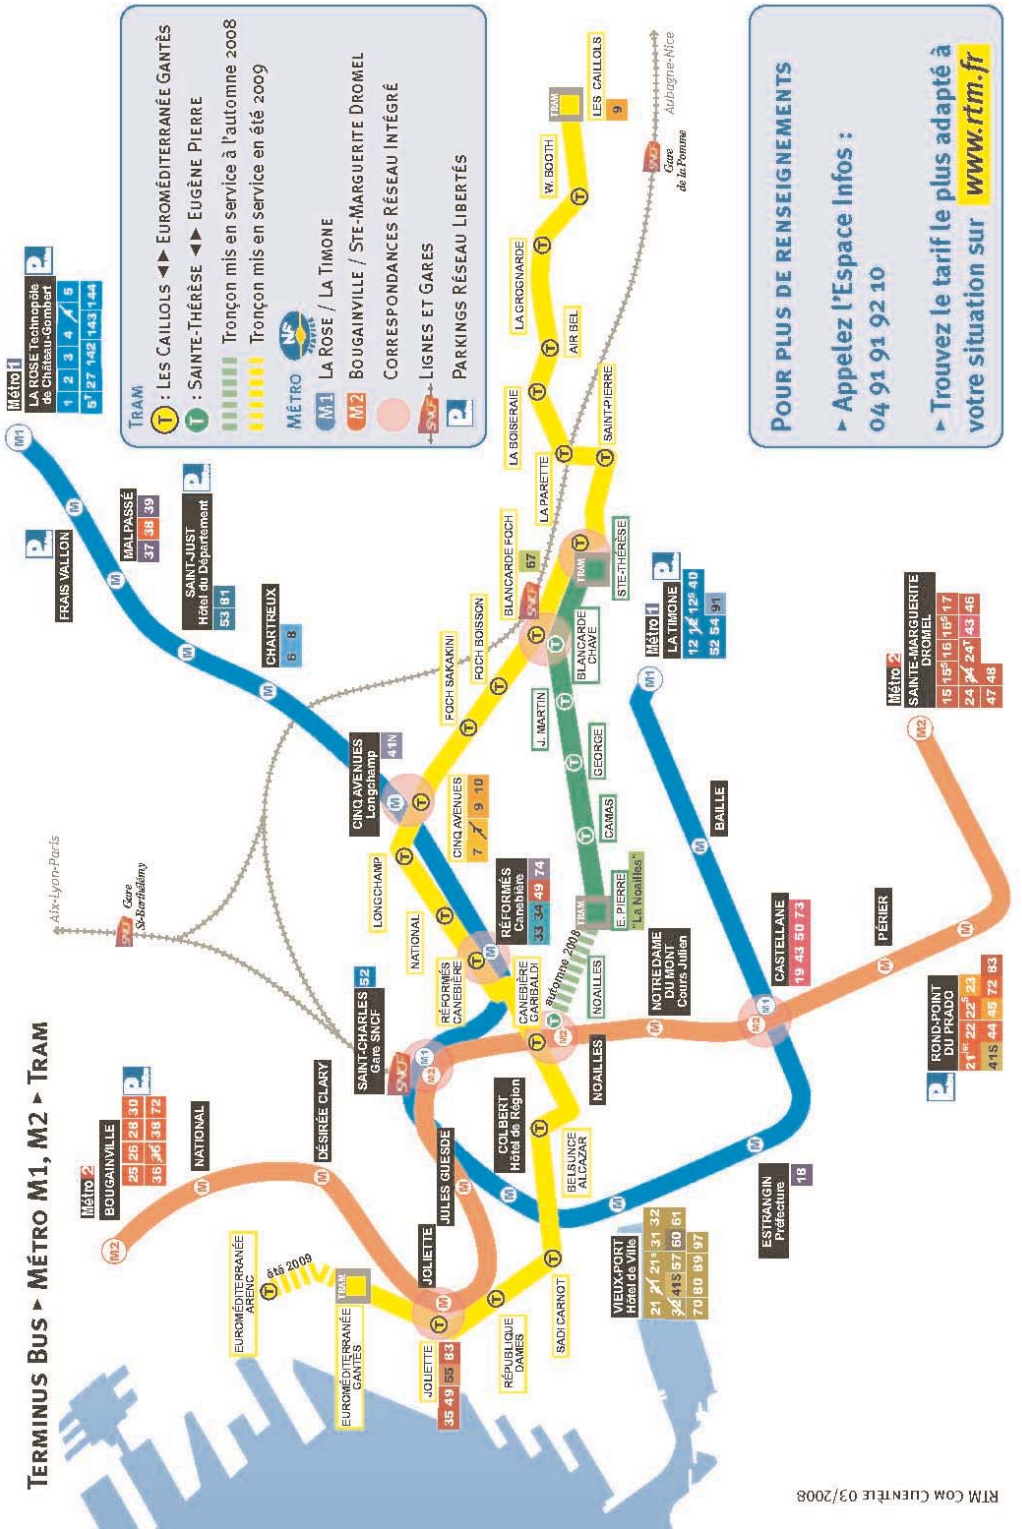

The T.E.R. network consists of 1000 km in the regional network in the six departments forming the PACA region, with 450 trains and 70 buses that run every day, more than 100 000 passengers per day, and 140 stops (one stop about every 7 kilometers).

Since December 2006 – and for a duration of two years – the Aix-Marseilles TER line has been replaced by intercity coaches due to development and modernizing work on the rail lines.

5 - SPORTS, LEISURE AND CULTURE IN PROVENCE

Every one knows that Marseilles comes to life and excels in Football. But does every one know that the City of Marseilles is host to the Beach Volleyball world series every year ? Does every one know that Marseilles is the world capital of scuba diving ? Is it known that the Calanques (unique in Europe) are a paradise for hikers and mountaineers ?

Provence is a land of contrasts, and offers a wide range of leisure and sports activities from sailing to golf, including horse riding, deltaplane and many others.

There is an average of 2500 hours of sunshine every year, so that every one can perform his preferred activity, in any season. This is witnessed by many sports federations and leagues active in the department.

And since Provence is also a land of culture, it is not unusual to make a detour from a path and discover a landscape immortalized by Cézanne, Van-Gogh or Braque. The exceptional light has always inspired artists and it is not by chance that the Estaque (a popular district of Marseilles) is closely associated with three types of paintings : impressionism, fauvism and cubism.

If you have the soul of an artist, you will love to discover the places that inspired these artists. The Arles, Saint-Rémy, Aix-en-Provence and Marseilles Offices of Tourism offer discovery circuits on sites of the most famous paintings.

Persons who love reading will be delighted to visit the 94 libraries in the department, and the "Original Version" bookshops in Aix-en-Provence and Marseilles which offer books in German, English, Spanish, Italian, and so on. If you are fond of poetry, the cipM (Centre International de Poésie de Marseille - Marseilles International Poetry Center) regularly offers contemporary poetry readings. And black novel lovers will delightfully plunge into the universe of Izzo, Carrese or Del Papas.

Provence, a land of festivals, is host to many events and music lovers and other amateurs of pictures, corridas and dancing will all find many interesting occupations.

All styles cohabit in Provence, for example there is the Aix-en-Provence Festival of Lyric Art that attracts many famous artists every year, the Roque-d'Anthéron Piano Festival, the Arles Féria with its Spanish influence, Arles Photographic Festival, Dancing in Marseilles with the presence of the Marseilles National ballet and the now famous Fiesta des Suds.

The Fiesta des Suds was first created in 1992 and reflects the style of the city of Marseilles - cosmopolitan, warm and exuberant. It provides an opportunity for all social classes to come together and dance to rhythms such as Salsa, Flamenco, Rock, Reggae... The Arte television station produced a documentary on this exceptional event in 2003, and several articles have been published in the national and international press. The Fiesta has earned its letters of nobility...

And if you prefer gastronomy to art or sports, you will also find your heart's delight in Provence. There are the traditional open air markets in every village throughout the year, plus a number of seasonal gourmet events. Carry-le-Rouet, Sausset-les-Pins and Port-de-Bouc organize « Oursinades » (Sea urchin feast) in the winter, Marseilles hosts the garlic market in early summer, and you can enjoy grilled sardines every evening at « Sardinades » (Sardine feast) in Martigues and Port-de-Bouc during the summer, Cassis has its wine festival in September and Mouriès has its green olives festival in September and the early oil festival in December. Everyone with a "sweet tooth" will enjoy a visit to the « Marché des 13 desserts de Noël » (13 Christmas desserts Market) held in Aix-en-Provence in early December.

The message is simple: there really are many sports and cultural events in Provence. Provence is a genuine cradle of civilization (this word should not be taken in vain) and it has the ability of mixing genre with talent and harmony. Passions can be declined in Provence, and it is possible to be bullfight fan, a music lover and supporter of the "Olympique de Marseille" all at the same time.

The Citadingue, a free guide to Aix-en-Provence, Marseilles and Cassis, suggests more than 550 addresses (leisure, shopping, sports, excursions, entertainment, restaurants, etc.). You can obtain this book from all Marseilles Town Halls, at the Marseilles and Aix Tourist Information Center, the underground, etc.
