WELCOME

Livres Canada Books is pleased to present the 2020–2021 edition of the Rights Canada catalogue!

We are delighted to showcase over 325 titles of great Canadian fiction, non-fiction, children's books and young adult fiction. Whether published in English, French or other languages in translation, Canadian writers have captured the imagination of millions of readers around the world and their many awards and recognitions are a tribute to that reputation.

Canadian publishers have many extraordinary works of literature to share and you will find an excellent sample of them here. Sharing stories across languages and borders is especially important in these challenging times. The stories we tell each other help us to build and maintain relationships and, in this way, help us to create community.

We invite you to consult the listings in the catalogue to find the stories and relationships that speak to you most. You can also find more information on Canadian titles and publishers at the Livres Canada Books website. What better way to connect with new readers, friends, and partners in the international publishing community during this unprecedented time of isolation?

The outstanding quality and creativity of Canadian publishing represented in this edition of Rights Canada will encourage you to continue working with Canadian publishers and create new stories.

We look forward to reuniting with you in 2021 when Canada will be Guest of Honour at the Frankfurt Book Fair!

Happy reading.

BIENVENUE

Livres Canada Books est heureux de vous présenter l'édition 2020–2021 du catalogue Droits du Canada !

Nous nous réjouissons de mettre en vedette plus de 325 titres exceptionnels, qu'il s'agisse de romans, de livres de non fiction, de livres pour enfants, de romans jeunes adultes ou de publications savantes.

Les auteurs canadiens, qu'on les lise en français, en anglais ou dans d'autres langues, réussissent à captiver et stimuler l'imaginaire des lecteurs du monde entier, et les nombreux prix et reconnaissances qu'ils reçoivent en témoignent.

Les éditeurs canadiens ont de nombreux récits extraordinaires à partager, et vous en trouverez ici un excellent échantillon. La transmission des histoires par-delà les langues et les frontières est particulièrement importante en ces temps difficiles. Les histoires que nous nous racontons nous aident à établir et à maintenir des liens et, ainsi, à former une communauté.

Nous vous invitons à consulter les listes du catalogue pour y découvrir les récits et les histoires qui vous interpellent le plus. Vous trouverez également plus de renseignements sur les titres et les éditeurs canadiens sur le site Web de Livres Canada Books. Pendant cette période d'isolement sans précédent, quoi de mieux pour créer des liens avec de nouveaux lecteurs, amis et partenaires dans la communauté internationale de l'édition ?

La qualité exceptionnelle des titres annoncés dans la présente édition du catalogue Droits du Canada ainsi que la créativité de nos auteurs vous inciteront à continuer de collaborer avec les éditeurs canadiens.

Nous vous reconvoquons en 2021 pour la présence du Canada en tant qu'invité d'honneur à la Foire du livre de Francfort !

Bonne lecture.

Pas même le bruit d'un fleuve
by Héléne Dorion

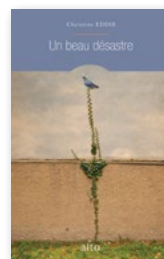

When Hanna finds notebooks in her mother's belongings, she decides to travel up the Saint-Lawrence river, to try to find the thread which could tie her life to Simone's, this silent woman. Along the river, Hanna will meet Antoine, her mother's true love, and will go all the way back to 1914, to the sinking of the Empress of Ireland. Through this journey, there will be the power of art and that of friendship to escort a luminous and demanding interior quest.

Un beau désastre
by Christine Eddie

In a neighbourhood marked by poverty, neglect and indifference, a boy frets about the future. Fatherless, raised by an overly cheerful aunt, M.J. watches the twenty-first century with utter dismay. Life, he thinks, is a disaster waiting to happen. A coming-of-age story, Un beau désastre is a funny, tender portrait that expertly blends teenage angst and sarcasm with acts of kindness and solidarity. Christine Eddie's beautiful new novel bursts with life.

Aubrey McKee
by Alex Pugsley

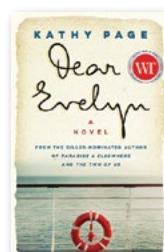

An arcana of oddball angels, Alex Pugsley's long-awaited debut novel follows rich-kid drug dealers and junior tennis brats, émigré heart surgeons and small-time thugs, renegade private school girls and runaway children as they try to make sense of the city into which they've been born. Part coming-of-age-story, part social chronicle, and part study of the myths that define our growing up, Aubrey McKee introduces a breathtakingly original new voice.

Dear Evelyn
by Kathy Page

Born between the wars on a working-class London street, Harry Miles wins a scholarship and a chance to escape his station, but discovers instead that poetry is what offers him real direction. When he meets Evelyn Hill on the steps of Battersea Library, the two fall in love as the world prepares once again for war—but over the ensuing decades, their capacity to care for each other is increasingly tested.

I Can't Get You Out of My Mind
by Marianne Apostolides

Ariadne, a single, fortysomething writer embroiled in an affair with a married man, is writing a book about what it means to say, "I love you." To make ends meet while writing, she joins a research study in which she's paid to live with an AI device, but the study quickly enters uncharted territory. Apostolides' latest brings into question issues of privacy and consciousness: how we communicate our thoughts, what it means to embody our desires, and whether we ought to act on them.

The Handsome Man
by Brad Casey

The Handsome Man follows several years of the life of a young man as he is drawn around the world: from Toronto to Montréal, New York, New Mexico, Berlin, and Rome, along the way meeting healers, drinkers, movie stars, and welcoming strangers. He isn't traveling, however; he's running away. But the world won't let him disappear—each new encounter and every lost soul he meets brings him closer to truths he'd locked away: how to trust and live in this world, and how to love again.

The Dome

by Suzanne Craig-Whytock

It's the year 2135, almost four decades since the Water Wars ended. Much of the continent is a desert wasteland, and the powerful Consortium rules Adanac, one of the few habitable areas remaining, with an iron fist. Cee and Dee, 16-year-old twins who share a special, almost psychic bond, are runaways from a Consortium workhouse. Now living as Freeworlders in the largest tent city in Trillium province, they're determined to survive.

Dirty Birds

by Morgan Murray

Hilariously ironic and irreverent, in Dirty Birds, Morgan Murray generates a quest novel for the twenty-first century—a coming-of-age, rom-com, crime-farce thriller—where a hero's greatest foe is his own crippling mediocrity as he seeks purpose in art, money, power, crime, and sleeping in all day.

"Canadians rejoice! Our Vonnegut has finally arrived! Morgan Murray's debut is a great, brawling, sprawling, muscular glory of a story. Funny, dark, and wholly original." —Will Ferguson

The Kissing Fence

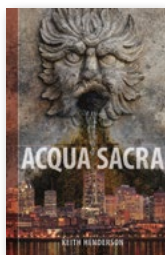

A Novel

by B. A. Thomas-Peter

In The Kissing Fence, two generations grapple with identity, oppression, and redemption rooted in the chilling history of the 1950s and 60s conflict between the Canadian government and the Doukhobors who emigrated from Russia to escape persecution. A powerful and emotional story of clashing cultural tensions that questions how we define success, identity, and our community.

A Novel

by Keith Henderson

Acqua Sacra is about corruption—construction industry corruption (the novel ends with the establishment of the Charbonneau inquiry), but corruption on many other fronts—sport, taxes, illegal immigration, the law, and on the deepest level: moral corruption. Lack of character. Greed. Amorality. Suzanna is engaged in trying to reconstruct/restore her ancestral home in Acqua Sacra. In the process, she encounters the full glory of criminal Italian business practices.

Passer l'hiver

de Kateri Lemmens

Ce recueil expose des figures et des moments de passages d'hiver à la fois physiques, intimes, politiques et artistiques. Les poèmes convoquent plusieurs voix qui reprennent et réinventent des histoires et des trames d'histoire disséminées à travers le temps et l'espace. Réalisé en collaboration avec l'artiste et écrivain belge Romain Renard (Chroniques de Melville), le recueil raconte des impasses, des chutes, des épiphanies.

Sestrales

d'Andréane Frenette-Vallières

Sestrales fait le portrait d'une parole isolée, celle d'une femme vivant dans une forêt. La narratrice tente là de se soustraire aux violences qui la menacent en rétablissant, par le langage, la relation à soi, aux êtres et aux choses. L'adresse à sa sœur montre d'abord en quoi la rencontre échoue : le poème devient le témoin et la trace d'une fragilité en lien avec l'isolement qui pose entre elles la question de la limite des corps, des sensibilités et des identités sexuées.

À l'ombre des érables et des palmiers

Nouvelles

de Guy Bélizaire

Si la vie des expatriés haïtiens n'est pas toujours rose dans leur pays d'accueil, que dire de l'existence de leurs compatriotes en Haïti ! À l'ombre des érables et des palmiers nous propose un voyage incessant entre deux pays, à travers 14 histoires passionnantes et parfois dérangeantes sur les conséquences impitoyables de la misère, de l'exclusion et de la bêtise. Tant à l'ombre des érables que des palmiers, l'injustice se révèle universelle.

Mordre jusqu'au sang dans le rouge à lèvres

de José Claer

Né avec un sexe en point d'interrogation, l'auteur se fait ange trash pour accoucher d'une poésie non à l'index, mais au doigt d'honneur, qui farfouille dans vos fantasmes les plus honteux à la recherche d'un orgasme. Poète transgenre, José Claer traduit dans son magnifique recueil les tensions (corporelles, mentales, sexuelles...) qui jalonnent son parcours, entre « une enfance qui se contracte par le sexe » et « un amour qui se détracte au masculin pluriel ».

On n'sait jamais à quoi s'attendre

de Hélène Koscielniak

Douze nouvelles tragi-comiques. Chacune jette un œil indiscret, quoique sympathique, sur l'intimité des gens dans leur foyer. Une galerie de personnages surpris dans leur quotidien par des événements bouleversants. Des dilemmes très actuels où l'on reconnaît nos habitudes, nos valeurs et nos préjugés. Écrit dans un style simple, parsemé de dialogues francs et directs, ce recueil met en scène avec grand art observations et réflexions sur la société contemporaine.

L'après-Jérôme

by Mia Caron

I fell for Jérôme in front of a breakfast plate, the morning after New Year's Day. I admired how easy it was for him to reveal himself while eating a mountain of potatoes. I cherished that he knew how to gain my trust so quickly. It felt like I had been eating toast with him my whole life. We dated for half a year, but if we had very different visions of romantic relationships. After six months, I had enough. I gave Jérôme an ultimatum: the other girls or me. He chose the others.

The Sign on My Father's House

by Tom Moore

This is the uproariously funny and at times heartbreaking tale of a young man's rough ride into adulthood. Felix Ryan is on a journey to discover who he is and where he is headed. He moves from rural Newfoundland to the hectic life of Memorial University in the late 1960s. It is a world of music, girls, and new experiences. Felix's world is changing as the Joey Smallwood era comes to an end. But Ellen Monteau never strays far from his mind.

Speechless

by Anne Simpson

A'isha Nasir is a Nigerian teenager who has been charged with adultery and sentenced to death. Sophie MacNeil is an ambitious young Canadian journalist who meets A'isha and writes an impassioned article about her plight. But when the article sets off waves of outrage and violence, Sophie is forced to come to terms with the naiveté with which she approached the story. Who can—and should—tell a story?

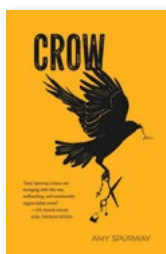

Speechless is a stunning novel of justice, witness, and courage.

Tueurs de l'occulte

13 histoires vraies à glacer le sang de Christian Page

Depuis la fin des années 1960, les crimes à caractère occulte connaissent une progression foudroyante. À tel point que des corps policiers ont mis sur pied des unités d'élite spécialisée; en effet, la vision intime du monde de ces meurtriers est souvent peuplée de démons, de vampires et de goules. Ici, nous ne parlons plus de meurtres ou de modus operandi, mais de rituels et de sacrifices. Mais qui sont ces « tueurs de l'occulte » ?

Le tranquille affligé

de Gilles Jobidon

En 1860, à l'heure où la Chine est paralysée, Jacques Trévier, jésuite défrôqué, doit ramener d'une île de la mer d'Oman un maître artisan de noir qui pourra soi-disant éliminer tous les maux qui gangrèment le pays. À travers une prose imagée teintée de faits historiques réels, ce roman aborde des réalités très contemporaines, soit les contrecoups viciés de la globalisation des échanges à travers l'incompréhension et le non-respect des valeurs de l'autre.

Ce que l'avenir ne dira pas
de Caroline Thérien

Premier ouvrage de Caroline Thérien, le recueil de nouvelles Ce que l'avenir ne dira pas explore les arcanes d'un monde crépusculaire que la poésie parvient toujours à ré-enchanter. Sous la plume à la fois décapante et lyrique de l'auteure, le destin de jeunes faussement blasés et de vieux très sages se croisent. Parfois, un détail en apparence trivial porte en lui le sens profond des choses. D'autres fois, un souffle épique s'éteint avec le jour.

Hunter with Harpoon

by Markoosie Patsauq

A new, more accurate translation (from the original Ikuktitut text) of the acclaimed 1970 novel. Published 50 years ago as Harpoon of the Hunter, Patsauq's novel helped establish Indigenous fiction in Canada. This new translation unfolds the story of Kamik, a young hero who comes to manhood while on a hunt for a wounded polar bear. In this tale of a people struggling to survive in a brutal environment, Patsauq describes life in the Arctic as one reliant on cooperation and vigilance.

Contacts

de Mélanie Leclerc, illustré par Mélanie Leclerc

Contacts, c'est le portrait sans fard que l'autrice trace de son père, Martin Leclerc, un caméraman passionné de photographie argentique. Cet homme de peu de mots, au caractère parfois rugueux, a pu grâce à son travail artistique s'ouvrir au monde et exposer sa sensibilité. Mais c'est aussi le récit humble de la transmission d'une passion, d'une manière de poser le regard, d'une réflexion sur l'image, où l'autrice reconnaît chez ce père un modèle qui l'a guidée.

Le projet Shiatsung

de Brigitte Archambault, illustré par Brigitte Archambault

Dans un bungalow dont la cour est ceinte par une muraille infranchissable, une femme a été élevée, seule, par un écran parlant omniscient, mais qui ne dit pas tout. Sans autre connaissance du monde extérieur ni encadrement que ce que lui a appris ce dernier, elle ignore tout des causes de son existence. Et si cette femme tentait d'échapper à la surveillance constante de cet écran qui épie ses gestes ? Que pourrait-elle trouver de l'autre côté du mur ?

Shuni

de Naomi Fontaine

Best-seller d'une auteure autochtone. Dans une lettre à Shuni, jeune Québécoise venue dans sa communauté pour aider les Innus, l'auteure convoque l'histoire, raconte le doute qui mine le cœur des colonisés, l'impossible combat d'être soi.

« Naomi Fontaine écrit la vérité, l'histoire d'un peuple traversé par des traditions, des blessures et des idéaux. Elle bâtit des ponts, abolit les barrières à grands coups de sagesse et d'empathie. »

In Veritas

by C.J. Lavigne

In this fantastic and fantastical debut, C.J. Lavigne concocts a wondrous realm overlaying a city that brims with civic workers and pigeons. Led by her synesthesia, Verity Richards discovers a hidden world inside an old Ottawa theatre. Within the timeworn walls live people who should not exist—people whose very survival is threatened by science, technology, and natural law. Verity must submerge herself in this impossible reality to help save this endangered group.

Rolling Thunder

A "Hammerhead" Jed Mystery
by A.J. Devlin

Former pro wrestler "Hammerhead" Jed Ounstead, now a fully-fledged private investigator, is riding high after his first successful case. In this second episode, Jed leaves the wrestling realm to enter a new arena: women's flat-track roller derby. When old acquaintance Stormy Daze seeks his help finding her team's missing coach, Jed discovers that the turnbuckle-and-metal-chair mayhem of the wrestling ring pales in comparison to roller derby's four-wheeled ferocity.

by Carol Rose GoldenEagle

Bone Black is a powerful and incisive narrative that meditates on justice and revenge. After Wren StrongEagle's twin sister Raven mysteriously disappears one evening, Wren is devastated—and angry. When the local police do little to solve her sister's case, Wren decides it is time to take justice into her own hands. What follows is a thrilling and evocative story, and a penetrating social critique into prescient issues faced by Indigenous women today.

Difficult People

by Catriona Wright

Manipulators, liars, egomaniacs, bullies, interrupters, condescenders, ice queens, backstabbers, hypocrites, withholders, belligerents, self-deceivers, whiners, know-it-alls, nitpickers: these are some of the characters you'll encounter in the collection of stories, Difficult People. As these characters fumble through their quests for stand-up glory, romantic love, stable employment or anyone who can tolerate them, they reveal that we are all, in our own ways, difficult people.

[A Novel by Ken Sparling]

by Ken Sparling

Ken Sparling's nameless novel is a window, an open door, a means of escape. The novel's narrator—Ken—works at a library. He's drowning in memos, directives, instructions. Words at their most banal. At home, he and his wife have almost nothing to say. Their few words are terse, resentful, wounded. Ken begins to write a novel, an alternative life for himself and his wife.

by Kat Sandler

Lila, a young Black ex-cop, has been on leave from the force since she shot an unarmed Black youth. So when Tim, a white playwright, shows up at her door to casually inform her that his play inspired by her experience is being adapted into a movie, Lila's trauma is dragged out for speculation once again. This dark, fast-paced dramedy traces the responsibility we have as artists in storytelling and the impact of what it means to be inspired by true events.

La géographie du bonheur by Véronique Marcotte

After helping his wife commit suicide, Jaco discovers that she has long led a double life: fourteen years ago, Marine had a daughter in Haiti named Clara. Alongside an old friend and benefactress, Jaco leaves Montréal to travel to the island nation. He wants to uncover the truth about his wife and give Clara her inheritance. But by the time he arrives, the girl has disappeared.

Alternately tragic and luminous, this title is a deeply human story that goes straight to the heart.

Your Death is Mine by David Goudreault

Marie-Maude Pranesch-Lopez is struggling with a "white hole" that is constantly pushing her out of her comfort zone and making her try anything and everything, which invariably leaves her totally apathetic. Through this deconstructed story, woven together by pages from Marie-Maude's diary, author David Goudreault explores the idea of fate with a cast of characters who will never live to see redemption.

25 Years of Ed Tech

by Martin Weller

Martin Weller demonstrates a rich history of innovation and implementation of ed tech across higher education. From Bulletin Board Systems to blockchain, Weller follows the trajectory of education by focusing each chapter on a technology, theory, or concept that has influenced each year since 1994. Weller advocates for a critical and research-based approach to new technologies, particularly in light of disinformation, social media, and data surveillance trends.

Feminist City

A Field Guide

by Leslie Kern

Feminist City combines memoir, feminist theory, pop culture, and geography to expose what is hidden in plain sight: the social inequalities built right into our cities, homes, and neighbourhoods. Focusing on gendered experiences of the city, the book grapples with the challenge of claiming urban space amongst barriers designed to keep women "in their place." From the geography of rape culture to the politics of snow removal, the city is an ongoing site of gendered struggle.

Menno Moto

A Journey Across the Americas in Search of My Mennonite Identity
by Cameron Dueck

In this memoir of an eight-month, 45 000 kilometre motorcycle journey across the Americas following his ancestors' path south, Mennonite writer Cameron Dueck searches for common ground within his cultural diaspora. From skirmishes with secular neighbours over water rights in Mexico, to a mass-rape scandal in Bolivia, to the Green Hell of Paraguay and the wheat fields of Argentina, Dueck finds reasons to both love and loathe his culture—and, in the process, finds himself.

House of Mirrors

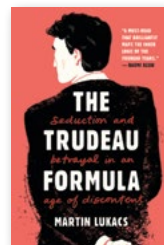

Justin Trudeau's Foreign Policy

by Yves Engler

Canadian Prime Minister Justin Trudeau presents himself as progressive on foreign affairs. According to Trudeau, he and his Liberals have brought Canada back after the disastrous Conservative government under Stephen Harper. In House of Mirrors, Yves Engler asks probing questions and demonstrates that the opposite is true: Trudeau, he argues, largely continued Harper's foreign policy.

The Trudeau Formula
Seduction and Betrayal in an Age of Discontent
by Martin Lukacs

After a decade of Stephen Harper, the arrival of Justin Trudeau felt like a relief. But as Canadians reckon with the gulf between the dazzling promise of Trudeau's election and the grim reality of his government, journalist Martin Lukacs makes the case that "real change" was never part of the agenda. Lukacs argues it's time that Canada's progressive majority abandon the idea of saviours and renew the task of collectively winning the world we need.

Villages in Cities

Community Land Ownership, Cooperative Housing, and the Milton Parc Story
by Josh Hawley and Dimitri Roussopoulos

As gentrification threatens to uproot neighbourhoods across the world, the flame of co-operative housing has been reignited. Meanwhile, community land ownership has the potential to turn the tide and put the destiny of our cities into the hands of residents. Villages in Cities takes us across North America to Montréal, Boston, Vermont, and Mississippi, presenting concrete examples of citizens taking back the land and claiming their right to secure housing.

Small, Broke, and Kind of Dirty

Affirmations for the Real World
by Hana Shafi, illustrated by Hana Shafi

Small, Broke, and Kind of Dirty—built around art from Shafi's popular online affirmation series—focuses on our never-ending journey of self-discovery. It explores the ways in which the world can all too often wear us down, and reminds us to remember our worth, even when it's hard to do so. Drawing on her experience as a millennial woman of colour, and writing with humour and a healthy dose of irreverence, she delves into body politics, pop culture, racism, feminism, and friendship.

The Life and Art of Sybil Andrews

by Janet Nicol, illustrated by Sybil Andrews

Raised in Bury St Edmunds, England, Sybil Andrews was one of Canada's most prominent artists working throughout the late twentieth century. This fully illustrated biography focuses on Andrews' artistic life, particularly after she immigrated to Canada in 1947. Inspired by the working-class community that she lived in, Andrews created striking linocut prints full of movement; her art is known for its honest depiction of ordinary people at work and play on Canada's West Coast.

Hope Matters

Why Changing the Way We Think Is Critical to Solving the Environmental Crisis
by Elin Kelsey

Hope Matters boldly breaks through the narrative of doom and gloom that has overtaken conversations about our future to show why hope, not fear, is our most powerful tool for tackling the planetary crisis. Award-winning author, scholar, and educator Elin Kelsey argues that the catastrophic environmental news dominating the media tells only part of the story. She shows how we can harness all our emotions about the changing environment into effective personal and political action.

En as-tu vraiment besoin ?
de Pierre-Yves McSween

Cette lecture ne laissera personne indifférent. Pierre-Yves McSween parle d'argent sans filtre et sans tabou, comme on ne l'a jamais fait auparavant dans un livre sur le sujet. Il propose de brillants mécanismes d'autodéfense contre la société de consommation et la naïveté financière. Avec deux grands objectifs en tête : définir le comportement d'un citoyen responsable financièrement; puis, donner au lecteur, enfin, un peu plus de cette liberté dont il a vraiment, carrément besoin.

Around the World in a Dugout Canoe
The Untold Story of Captain John Voss and the Tilikum

by John M. MacFarlane and Lynn J. Salmon

In 1901, Captain Voss set out seeking to claim the world record for the smallest vessel to circumnavigate the globe. In this groundbreaking work the authors sift fact from fiction, critically examining previously published accounts of the journey against research from libraries, archives, and museums around the world to reveal the real story of a little-understood character and his cedar canoe. It is an enduring story of courage, adventure, tragedy, and, at times, sheer luck.

Big Business and Hitler
by Jacques R. Pauwels

Basing his work on the recent findings of scholars in many European countries and the US, Jacques Pauwels explains how Hitler gained and held the support of powerful business interests who found the well-liked one-party fascist government, ready and willing to protect the property and profits of big business. He documents the role of the many multinationals in business today who supported Hitler and gained from the Nazi government's horrendous measures.

Dire l'autre
Appropriation culturelle, voix autochtones et liberté d'expression d'Ethel Groffier

Dans cet essai lucide et nécessaire, Ethel Groffier explore les limites de la liberté artistique lorsqu'il est question de parler de l'autre. Elle démontre que toute relation interculturelle saine avec les peuples autochtones ne sera possible que lorsque nous aurons reconnu nos torts et offert une pleine réparation. C'est une démarche qui va au-delà de la place réservée aux peuples autochtones dans nos productions artistiques, une démarche qui interpelle chaque citoyen.

Histoire de la pensée économique

D'Aristote à Marx
de Till Düppe

Notre héritage culturel regorge d'idées à propos de l'économie et les débats font rage sur le rôle et les mérites respectifs de l'argent et de la richesse, la justice et l'égalité des échanges, l'importance du travail, l'inéluctabilité de la pauvreté. Comment les grands penseurs, d'Aristote à David Ricardo et à Karl Marx, ont-ils abordé ces idées ? Cet ouvrage — analyse croisée entre économie et philosophie — veut donner au lecteur contemporain un accès à la pensée de ces auteurs.

Waiting for the Rain

An Iraqi Memoir

by Lamees Al Ethari

Lamees Al Ethari traces her transition from an idyllic childhood in a large extended Iraqi family to the relative stability of an exilic family life in Canada. Through memory fragments, flights of poetry, diary entries, and her own art, the author reveals the trauma suffered by Iraqis, caused by three senseless wars, dehumanizing sanctions, a brutal dictatorship, and a foreign occupation. This account also gives testimony to the Iraqi people's resilience.

Dysnostie

Le récit du retour au pays natal dans la littérature canadienne francophone contemporaine d'Irène Chassaing

Thème fondateur de la littérature occidentale, le retour au pays natal ne s'est manifesté que récemment dans la littérature canadienne francophone. Le retour force ses acteurs à redéfinir tant leur propre identité que les critères de leur appartenance réciproque. Irène Chassaing vient renouveler le débat sur les problèmes de l'appartenance, du déplacement et de l'exil afin de mieux répondre aux défis qu'ils posent dans le présent et pour les prochaines décennies.

Spirits of the Coast Orcas in Science, Art and History Edited by Dr. Martha Black, Dr. Lorne Hammond, and Dr. Gavin Hanke with Nikki Sanchez

Spirits of the Coast brings together the work of marine biologists, Indigenous knowledge keepers, poets, artists and storytellers, united by their enchantment with the orca. A literary and visual journey through past and possibility, this book illustrates how the enigmatic orca has shaped us as much as our actions have impacted its species, and provokes the reader to imagine the shape of our shared future.

The Dark Art of Pricing

Deliberately Pricing for Profit
by Andrew Gregson

Finding the right pricing strategy is, like developing a sales program, work. It takes testing and tweaking. But the "how" and "why" are buried in corporate vaults and academic journals, almost inaccessible to the average business owner. Author Andrew Gregson simplifies the strategies that help business owners find ways to charge what they are really worth, drive larger profits, build wealth, and eventually attract buyers when the time comes to retire to a sandy beach.

La vie en gros

Regard sur la société et le poids
de Mickaël Bergeron

Entre témoignage, analyse sociale et discours militant, La vie en gros présente un regard sur ces violences diverses et quotidiennes qui se manifestent autant dans la vie professionnelle que dans les relations amoureuses, dans les transports en commun ou à l'hôpital, sur la couverture d'un magazine ou au grand écran. Mickaël Bergeron part de cette idée que si l'on se préoccupait vraiment de la santé des personnes grosses, on les aimerait avant de les rabaisser.

Les résistants du jazz

de Serge Truffaut, illustré par Christian Tiffet

Des musiciens et des musiciennes de jazz de la catégorie des mi-moyens (Red Garland, Elvin Jones, Lester Bowie, Julius Hemphill, etc.), pour reprendre le qualificatif du célèbre critique Leonard Feather, on en connaît finalement assez peu. La quarantaine de portraits de ces immenses jazzmen américains que propose ici Serge Truffaut replace cette musique dans le contexte social et historique qui l'a vu naître et se développer jusqu'à aujourd'hui. Le tout est illustré par Christian Tiffet.

Mégantic

A Deadly Mix of Oil, Rail, and Avarice
by Anne-Marie Saint-Cerny, translated by Donald Wilson

In this fascinating piece of investigative journalism, written like a thriller, journalist and social activist Anne-Marie Saint-Cerny reveals the inner workings of the 2013 Lac-Mégantic rail disaster that killed forty-seven people, and the individual and corporate authorities responsible for it. She reveals how the tragedy, far from being just the "error of a faulty system," was knowingly caused by powerful people and institutions distant from the town itself.

Orwell in Cuba

How 1984 Came to Be Published in Castro's Twilight
by Frédéric Lavoie, translated by Donald Winkler

Orwell in Cuba: How 1984 Came to Be Published in Castro's Twilight is a personal account of today's Cuba at a pivotal point in its history, with the Castro brothers passing power on to a new generation. The book is akin to a detective story, as the author investigates how and why a state-run publishing house has come to release a new translation of George Orwell's iconic anti-totalitarian novel 1984, formerly taboo.

The Diary of Dukesang Wong

A Voice from Gold Mountain
by Dukesang Wong
Edited with commentary by David McIlwraith, diary translated by Wanda Joy Hoe

Here is the only known first-person account from a Chinese worker on the famously treacherous parts of transcontinental railways that spanned the North American continent in the nineteenth century. Dukesang Wong's written account of life working on the Canadian Pacific Railway tells of the punishing work, the comradery, the sickness and starvation, the encounters with Indigenous Peoples, and the dark and shameful history of racism and exploitation that prevailed.

Taming Anxiety

How to Turn Stress into a Source of Strength
by Amélie Seidah and Isabelle Geninet

As adults and teenagers, how are we supposed to handle the stress and anxiety we feel on a daily basis? For many of us, the symptoms we experience may be diffused, situational or occasional, which can make the problem difficult to diagnose. Written in a warm and approachable style, this book aims to demystify and normalize the anxiety that can tend to seep its way into everyday life and help us cope by keeping us from falling into habits that will make emotional discomfort worse.

A White Lie

by Madeeha Hafez Albatta
Edited by Barbara Bill and Ghada Ageel

Palestinian refugees in Gaza have lived in camps for five generations. In the absence of official histories, oral narratives handed down through generations bear witness to life there since the catastrophe of dispossession. The Women's Voices from Gaza series honours women's unique and underrepresented perspectives. In this first volume, Madeeha Hafez Albatta chronicles her life. Among her remarkable achievements was establishing schools for refugee children in Gaza.

An Autobiography of the Autobiography of Reading

Internationally acclaimed poet and novelist Dionne Brand reflects on her early reading of colonial literature and how it makes Black being inanimate. She explores her encounters with colonial, imperialist, and racist tropes; the ways that practices of reading and writing are shaped by those narrative structures; and the challenges of writing a narrative of Black life that attends to its own expression and its own consciousness.

I Am Still Your Negro

An Homage to James Baldwin
by Valerie Mason-John

Spoken-word poet Valerie Mason-John unsettles readers with potent images of ongoing trauma from slavery and colonization. Her narratives range from the beginnings of the African Diaspora to the story of a stowaway on the Windrush, from racism and sexism in Trump's America to the wide impact of the Me Too movement. She explores the broader experience of the African Diaspora, and taboos within taboos. I Am Still Your Negro is truth that needs to be told, re-told, and remembered.

Lead for the Planet

Five Practices for Confronting Climate Change
by Rae André

Lead for the Planet outlines five practices that successful climate leaders will need to adopt, from getting the truth about the state of the planet, to assessing the risks and identifying the interests of key stakeholders, to implementing change within and between organizations and sectors on a global scale. Building on her experience as an organizational psychologist, Rae André shows how these practices comprise an effective model for climate leadership.

Reframed

Self-Reg for a Just Society
by Stuart Shanker

For Stuart Shanker, the possibility of a truly just and free society begins with how we see and nurture our children. In his new book, Reframed, Shanker unpacks the unique science and conceptual practices that are the very lifeblood of Self-Reg, making it an accessible read for new Self-Reggers. The paradigm revolution presented in Reframed not only helps us understand the harrowing time we are living through, but inspires a profound sense of hope for the future.

Solved

How the World's Great Cities
Are Fixing the Climate Crisis
by David Miller

If our planet is going to survive the climate crisis, we need to act rapidly. In Solved, David Miller argues that cities are taking action on climate change because they can—and because they must. He makes a clear-eyed and compelling case that, if replicated at pace and scale, the actions of leading global cities including L.A., New York, Toronto, Oslo, Shenzhen, and more can point the way to creating a more sustainable planet.

The Typewriter Century

A Cultural History of Writing Practices
by Martyn Lyons

With quirky charm, Lyons captures the intensity of the relationship between writers and their typewriters from the 1880s, when the machine was first commercialized, to the 1980s, when word-processing superseded it. The Typewriter Century provides a cultural history of the typewriter, outlining the ways in which it can be considered an agent of change and demonstrating how it influenced all writers, canonical and otherwise.

The Queer Evangelist

by Cheri DiNovo

In The Queer Evangelist, Rev. Dr. Cheri DiNovo (CM) tells her story, from her roots as a young socialist activist in the 1960s to ordained minister in the '90s to member of provincial parliament. As a legislator, DiNovo passed more LGBTQ bills than anyone in Canadian history. Interspersed with her political work DiNovo describes her conversion to religious life and her theological work. Her story illustrates how one can resist and change the repressive systems from within.

Food is in the eye of the beholder. This book assembles an amazing and often stomach-turning array of things people put in their mouths. Quite apart from delighting readers with exotic entrées, Joanna Emery asks the burning questions:

- If you find Fluffy on your plate, does that qualify as pet food?
- Why do roughly 20 people a year die after eating the Japanese Seafood Special?
- Why would someone pay more than $300 for bird saliva?
- What's the rage about Marmite and Vegemite?

Les étoiles

de Jacques Goldstyn, illustré par Jacques Goldstyn

Un jeune garçon juif et une petite fille musulmane se rencontrent dans un parc, dans le Mile End, quartier populaire de Montréal. Ils réalisent bientôt qu'ils partagent une passion profonde pour les étoiles et les constellations, rêvant de devenir un jour scientifiques ou astronautes, d'explorer l'infini du ciel. Leur histoire consistera à rêver, à partager et à explorer ce qui est plus grand que nous, au-delà des questions religieuses.

Véritable hymne à l'amitié !

Spirit Animals

Meanings and Stories

by Wayne Arthurson

Our Indigenous Elders tell of a time when animals and humans could speak to each other. When humans became too greedy and killed more animals than they needed for food, the Creator changed that relationship to protect the animals. So the Creator made a Spirit Animal to represent each one and granted them gifts they could give to people. This book is a guide, and the meanings of the Spirit Animals featured here are only one interpretation.

À quatorze ans, Philippe Gauvin ne vit que pour le soccer. Plein d'énergie et de détermination, l'attaquant du Phénix de Québec a pour ultime ambition de jouer un jour pour le FC Barcelone. L'occasion de franchir une étape décisive se présente lorsqu'il est recruté pour participer à un camp d'entraînement rassemblant les meilleurs joueurs de sa région. En plus de s'entraîner intensément, Philippe étudie d'arrache-pied pour éviter des cours d'été qui anéantiraient ses projets...

Recruté par le CHUne difficile ascension

de Daniel Guay

Thomas Fortin est un jeune hockeyeur dont le talent n'est pas à la hauteur de ses ambitions : grimper les échelons et être ultimement recruté par les Canadiens de Montréal. Ses débuts dans une nouvelle équipe Midget AAA ne sont pas très reluisants, d'autant plus qu'il entre rapidement en conflit avec son capitaine. C'est alors que le garçon découvre un bâton de hockey bien spécial, signé par le légendaire Maurice Richard...

A Great Big Night

by Kate Inglis, illustrated by Josée Bisaillon

When three travelling frog musicians roll through the forest on their painted bicycles, the other animals know they're in for a great big party. Only one of them is not having fun: grumpy old grouse. Just as he's telling everyone to stop with their foolish racket, a great big storm rolls through the woods and puts an end to all the fun. When they emerge in the sleepy, dewy dawn, the animals see that grouse's home is ruined, and quickly band together to help him.

Golden Threads

by Suzanne Del Rizzo, illustrated by Miki Sato

A beloved toy fox becomes lost, tattered, repaired, and loved for his imperfections. Golden Threads is inspired by the Japanese art form of kintsugi, or golden joinery, where broken pottery is repaired with resin painted gold. Kintsugi values repairing, rather than replacing, believing that the cracks give the broken item its story. This book is also a warm celebration of wabi-sabi, the Japanese idea that there is beauty in things that may be incomplete or imperfect.

Sometimes a Wall...

by Dianne White, illustrated by Barroux

An afternoon in the playground introduces different kinds of walls: a brick wall to draw on with chalk, a water wall, and a climbing wall. What follows is a playful yet profound exploration of the many ways walls can divide us or bring us together. While building, the kids unite, divide, alienate, and finally mend their friendship. Told with short, simple lines of playful, rhyming text, this book sparks important questions with empathy, insight, and charm.

Bees and Other Pollinators

by Wendy Einstein

Bees and other pollinators help pollinate the plants that give us many of our favourite foods. Bees are North America's most important pollinators. Honeybees have two stomachs. One is for food, and the other is used to carry nectar back to the hive. Chocolate is made from the cacao plant. Without bats to pollinate the cacao plant, there would be no chocolate!

by Sheldon Dawson, illustrated by Sheldon Dawson

Dinosaur Rodeo takes place in the real-life dinosaur fossil capital of Canada, where the world-famous Royal Tyrrell Museum of Palaeontology is located. Grandpa twists all this geography, palaeontology, and personal history into a fantastical, first-hand account of his days as a dino-cowboy back in the Cretaceous Period. He leaves his grandchildren and young readers with the dream that dinosaurs might live on, just waiting for the next cowboy or cowgirl to come along.

de Lucile de Peslouan, illustré par Geneviève Darling

On peut souffrir de l'intérieur et n'avoir aucun bleu sur le visage, aucune ecchymose à montrer. Difficile d'imaginer ce qui se passe à l'intérieur, de voir la tempête et les fusées qui traversent nos pensées. Une vingtaine de personnages confient ici, en textes et en images, un petit moment de leur détresse avec le quotidien qui continue, inlassablement, de tourner autour. Un roman graphique qui aborde le thème de la santé mentale de manière intime et sans complaisance.

La ville aux dos d'éléphants

de Christine Nadeau, illustré par Camille Pomerlo

Un jour, on découvre une roche dans la ville. Ce minerai, c'est de l'amiante, de l'or blanc. Un an plus tard, l'exploitation minière commence, un chemin de fer est construit. Le village deviendra une ville et ses habitants ne vivront plus jamais de la même façon... Ce conte écologique rappelle les conséquences de l'exploitation de l'amiante et des troubles de santé liés à son exploitation, l'amiantose, dont ont été victimes de nombreux travailleurs.

Les quatre saisons d'Elfina

d'André Jacob, illustré par Christine Delezenne

Elfina, douze ans, est orpheline de mère et son père est souvent absent. Alors qu'elle vit avec sa grand-mère dans un village isolé du Paraguay, sa tante Evoala lui propose de la prendre avec elle et sa famille à Montréal. Elfina n'ira pas à l'école et verra son quotidien se transformer en enfer. Ménage, courses, entretien, elle se retrouve complètement esclave de son oncle, de sa tante et de ses cousins, ignorée, maltraitée. Elfina réussira-t-elle à s'en sortir ?

Moi, c'est Tantale

d' André Marois, illustré par Julien Castanié

Le tantale est un métal rare, précieux et très recherché. Que nous apprendrait-il s'il pouvait tout nous révéler ? Découvrez ses aventures et son voyage depuis la République démocratique du Congo où il est extrait, en passant par l'Asie où il est transformé, pour arriver dans nos téléphones cellulaires. Et après ? Qu'est-ce qu'il devient ? Ce conte écologique entraîne une prise de conscience sur notre consommation et une réflexion sur la provenance des objets de notre quotidien.

Pourquoi les filles ont mal au ventre ?

de Lucile de Peslouan, illustré par Geneviève Darling

Pourquoi les filles ont mal au ventre ? est un manifeste féministe qui dénonce les malaises que ressentent les femmes, de l'enfance à l'âge adulte, dans une société qui ne les ménage pas. Ce roman graphique invite les adolescents à se questionner sur les situations de sexisme que les filles vivent au quotidien. Le livre sensibilise aux inégalités que subissent les femmes dans le monde, ici ou ailleurs, avec des illustrations sans tabou, qui racontent une réalité.

River

by Shira Nayman

The story of a fourteen-year-old girl who travels back in time, and across continents, encountering her maternal forbears when they were her age. From the Australian Outback, where she meets a young Aboriginal man, to racist, rigidly segregated South Africa during World War II, to the midst of a pogrom in Lithuania, and then all the way back to the Babylon of biblical times, Emily has deep encounters with the histories that have mysteriously and yet powerfully shaped her own soul.

Breakdown

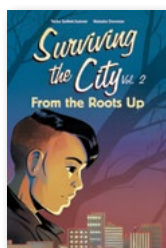

Vol. 1, The Reckoner Rises

by David A. Robertson, illustrated by Scott B. Henderson

Cole and Eva arrive in Winnipeg, the headquarters of Mihko Laboratories, intent on destroying the company once and for all. Their plans are thwarted when a new threat surfaces, and Cole is mired in terrifying visions. Are these visions just troubled dreams or are they leading him to a terrifying truth? And will Eva be able to harness her powers to continue the investigation without him? The Reckoner returns in an all-new graphic novel series, The Reckoner Rises!

From the Roots Up

Vol. 2, Surviving the City series

by Tasha Spillett-Sumner, illustrated by Natasha Donovan

"Dez and Miikwan's stories continue in this sequel to Surviving the City.

Dez's grandmother has passed away. Grieving, and with nowhere else to go, she's living in a group home. On top of everything else, Dez is navigating a new relationship and coming into her identity as a Two-Spirit person. Miikwan is crushing on the school's new kid Riel, but doesn't really understand what Dez is going through. Will she learn how to be a supportive ally to her best friend?"

If I Go Missing

by Brianna Jonnie and Nahanni Shingoose, illustrated by Neal Shannacappo

Combining graphic fiction and non-fiction, this young adult graphic novel serves as a window into the unique dangers of being a girl from a racialized minority background. The text of the book is derived from excerpts of a viral letter written to the police by a fourteen-year-old Indigenous girl urging them to "do better" when investigating missing persons. An author's note at the end of the book puts this human rights issue into an international context.

Rap pour violoncelle seul

de Maryse Pagé

Condamné à effectuer des travaux communautaires, Malik se retrouve dans une résidence pour aînés auprès d'un vieil homme détestable qu'il n'a nulle envie de connaître. Sous la petite délinquance de l'un et l'aigreur de l'autre se cache une sensibilité qui, peu à peu, transformera cette relation forcée en amitié sincère.

The Year Shakespeare Ruined My Life

by Dani Jansen

Overachieving Allison, desperate to be head of her class agrees to produce a play by Shakespeare which turns out to be a big problem and a bigger mistake. What might even be worse is that she accepts a date with a boy when she herself has a crush on a girl. Alison stays positive even when she must cope with the misadventures that befall the play and while she must grapple with what it means to be "out". Kirkus Reviews described the book as "most wonderful."
